VOL. XCIII—No. 115 CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 4, 1964 PRICE SEVEN CENTS

Action Put Off by Aldermen On $79,000 for Street Work

Recessed Meeting Set 16th

Urban Renewal Is Certified Again

Annual recertification of the city's urban renewal program, as requested by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, was approved Tuesday night by the Common Council, which recessed until March 16 to consider a $79,000 bond issue for street work.

First readings were given local laws providing for new restrictions on bingo, and to establish continuity of local government in the event of attack or emergency.

Hiring of an account clerk for the senior citizens' housing project on Albany Avenue was approved.

Deals With Parking

A lengthy report of the State Division of Traffic Engineering survey of parking problems in the first ward was left with the traffic committee. It was submitted by Mayor John J. Schwenk, and deals largely with alternate-side parking.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., in a procedure seldom used, called on John Machione (R) 12th Ward, to take the chair, while he offered a resolution in behalf of Girl Scout Week, March 8 to 14.

It authorizes temporary designation of Wall Street, from Main to North Front, as Girl Scout Street. Carroll explained that the state would not permit the Albany Avenue interchange area to be designated Girl Scout Plaza, as was first requested.

Time for Study

Majority Leader Machione advised that the recessed meeting was decided upon to give the finance committee more time to study the street repair program, and he said all of the aldermen were welcome to meet with the committee.

Mayor Schwenk, in a letter to the aldermen explained that a provision of the HHFA. "is that a city maintain a workable program" in urban renewal, "so that it may qualify for UR funds." He forwarded "A review of progress under the program for community improvement (workable program) due, as of May 1."

Bingo Changes

Changes of the local bingo law are in compliance with recently enacted state provisions requiring that no single prize shall exceed $150, and no series of prizes "on any one bingo occasion shall aggregate more than $1,000. The original local law was dated Aug. 5, 1958.

The law on continuity of Government provides compliance with state and federal regulations in the event of attack or similar emergency. It asks that such elected officials as aldermen and supervisors, and all appointed officials, designate no less than three "deputies" who could succeed them in order named.

Both proposed laws were submitted by Corporation Counsel Harry Gold.

The city charter provides for succession of the mayor and alderman-at-large. If an alderman-at-large is not available to succeed the mayor, the council votes

GOP Plans Study Group

Look at Income Tax Hike for School Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's Republican leaders are going to look into imposing a surtax on the state income tax to provide more state aid for education, it was learned today.

Informed sources said the GOP leadership planned to set up a Temporary State Commission to study this and other possible ways of keeping pace with the constantly rising cost of running the public schools.

Mahoney Willing

The idea originated with Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Chairman Fred W. Preller of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee. Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney was said to be willing to go along with the study.

Preller was reported to be pushing the idea of imposing a surcharge on the income tax. It would be an extra levy—in effect an increase in the income tax — that would rise automatically as school expenses climb. The surtax would be earmarked strictly for education.

No decision on the surtax proposal will be made at this legislative session, the sources said. The study commission will be asked to delve into the question and report its findings next year.

How It Envolved

The new approach was evolved as the Legislature's Republican majorities stepped up efforts to cut enough from Gov. Rockefeller's budget to provide a substantial increase in education aid this year.

Republican assemblymen endorsed Tuesday a previous agreement by GOP senators to trim at least $12 million from the $2.92-billion spending plan and attempt to cut another $10 million or so. The funds would be diverted into school aid.

In other developments:

Other Matters

—The GOP majorities in both houses rejected attempts by the Democratic minorities to force immediate votes on bills that would boost school aid by $110 million and impose a free tuition policy on the State University and the New York City University. Republican lawmakers argued the aid move was "premature" in view of their own efforts to find more money for education.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, appointed a top deputy in response to a request by Republican senators for an audit of the New York Racing Association's books. A Democratic senator has leveled conflict - of - interest charges against trustees of the association which operates the Saratoga, Aqueduct and Belmont race tracks.

Mahoney called another conference of the Senate Republican majority today to discuss progress in cutting Rockefeller's budget. A final decision was not expected until next week, however.

Republicans in both houses predicted freely during debate Tuesday that additional aid for education would be provided before the Legislature adjourned.

Carlino declined to discuss de-

Plans Announced For New County Resort Directory

A new Ulster County Directory including resort information and listing places of interest in the county will be published shortly, according to plans discussed at a meeting of area resort representatives and Chamber of Commerce officials of various localities Tuesday afternoon at Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., auditorium Broadway.

The project will be undertaken by Michael C. Starkman of Valley Advertising Agency, 116 Fair Street.

Report Inquiries

The most vital matter under discussion was the volume of seasonal inquires coming from out-of-town requesting specific information on accommodations and facilities available in Ulster County.

This year the inquiries have been coming in earlier and heavier due to Ulster County's proximity to the New York Worlds' Fair.

According to Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, suitable coordinated literature supplying specific data about certain types of accommodations does not exist. "If we had one piece of simple literature," he said, "to supply in answer to requests for information concerning all points of the county, there would be less time lost, and less postage money expended in answering folks who want to come here, and we would be more effective in helping resort areas.

Explains Mailings

As it exists now, a combination of area folders, plus an indiviual letter has to be sent to even begin answering certain inquiries." Kurdt, as manager of the county seat Chamber of Commerce, getting many inquiries, proved his point by reading mail from areas like Madison, Wisc.

Frank A. Byer, representing Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., who arranged the first of a series of planning meetings, explained how his own activities related to the resort and county effort.

Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux, Woodstock, chairman of the publicity committee of Ulster County Board of Supervisors made the point that a

Additional Orders 100,000 Weekly

'Torch Passed' Sells 3,091,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Orders for "The Torch Is Passed," The Associated Press book memorializing the death of President John F. Kennedy, have reached a total of 3,091,000. Additional requests continue to come in at a rate of more than 100,000 a week.

The announcement about the book was made on AP leased wires Dec. 5, before a line had been written. By the time the first books rolled off the presses in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Dec. 31, AP newspapers and newspaper readers had ordered more than a million copies, sight unseen.

New Wave of Orders

After the books reached the hands of readers, through 735 participating newspapers in the United States and Canada, there was a new wave of orders as the buyers asked for additional copies for friends and relatives. Hundreds of individuals wrote and telephoned commendations, as did many newspaper editors.

The 100-page book has striking portraits in color of President and Mrs. Kennedy by Karsh of Canada, as well as other color and black and white AP news photographs depicting the whole course of the tragedy. However, the book, 10 inches by 13 inches, is especially distinguished by a 35,000-word narrative telling the complete story with dramatic impact. It was turned out by a team of four top AP writers headed by Saul Pett and including Sid Moody, Hugh Mulligan and Tom Henshaw.

Run Night and Day

Once the presses started rolling at one of the world's biggest printing plants, that of Western Printing and Lithographing Co. in Poughkeepsie, they have rarely stopped, night or day. For several weeks, a second plant at Racine, Wis., was in operation.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer ordered 130,000 copies. The New York Daily News and the Kansas City Star have ordered 90,000 copies and expect to order more. Some smaller papers, such as the Harrisburg Patriot-News and the Visalia, Calif., Times Delta, have placed even higher orders in terms of percentages of their circulation.

While AP has expected almost from week to week to get current with orders, this goal still eludes it because of the continuing demand. Deliveries have been made of 2,768,000 copies. There has been no general distribution through bookstores.

Many editors have asked, "When will production be cut off?" The answer is that AP will print the book as long as member papers or their readers want it.

In 7 Languages

Abroad, "The Torch Is Passed" already has been translated into seven foreign languages—Japanese, Korean, Spanish, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Swedish. Inquiries on publication rights are coming in from publishers in other countries. In all, English and foreign language editions of the book will be distributed in some 40 countries.

In Japan, the Japanese editors called the book "Darasu no Kinyobi"— Friday in Dallas — and distributed it to newsstands on Feb 1. Within a w[illegible] orders for 80,000 copies put the

De Gaulle Is Given Up as Away Beyond

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have about given up trying to analyze the motives of French President Charles de Gaulle and resigned themselves to a long period of strain and increasing tension in relations between Washington and Paris.

The latest French maneuver in demanding Red Chinese admission to the U.N. World Health Organization is but one of a series which has already created a bad split in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and which may be followed by other moves as yet unforeseen here.

Policy of Containment

The Washington policy for dealing with this situation seems to be essentially a policy of containment aimed at trying to prevent the split in the alliance from becoming worse.

It is also aimed at trying to blot the thrust of De Gaulle's diplomacy insofar as it may affect the policies and attitudes of other countries in issues like the recognition of the Communist regime in China.

After news was received at the White House and State Department Tuesday that France was supporting a Red Chinese seat in the World Health Organization, the State Department declared that the U.S. delegation had "actively and successfully opposed the challenge of the Republic of China's (Nationalist China's) credentials."

Will Continue

It added: "We will continue to do this in every U.N. body."

The acceptance of the French challenge on this issue, which points toward a fight in the U.N. General Assembly over Red China next fall, was unqualified.

It is understood that the State Department is advising its embassies all over the world to make the U.S. policy on Red China both as to recognition and as to U.N. membership completely clear in the capitals where they serve.

Soviets Will Vote Yes

U.N. Approval Assured For Cyprus Peace Unit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Approval of a compromise plan for sending a U.N. peace force to Cyprus was assured today when the Soviet Union announced it would vote for the plan despite its objections to some provisions.

Diplomatic sources said the Russians were far from satisfied with the plan sponsored by five elected members of the Security Council. But because the Greek Cypriot government had decided to accept the plan,

In Athens, 2,000 Greeks burned an effigy of President Johnson in front of the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night. Thousands of others poured through the streets shouting denunciations of the United States and Britain for allegedly taking Turkey's side in the dispute.

They roared "Bravo Russia," "Johnson-Al Capone" and "Out with the fleet." Units of the U.S. 6th Fleet are holding joint exercises with Turkey in the Aegean Sea.

Agency Stoned

On the Greek island of Rhodes, off the Turkish coast, 3,000 high school students stoned the U.S. Information Agency building, the Turkish consulate and the U.S. Coast Guard vessel Courier, which serves as a transmitter for the Voice of America. They also overturned a car belonging to the Courier at dockside.

The students hooted down a government official who pleaded, "The Americans are our friends." Fights broke out when police moved in to quell the disorders.

Proud of Patriotism

Greek Premier George Papandreous ordered police not to interfere with the demonstrations but said he wanted all foreign embassies and property protected from "every act of violence and vileness."

"I am proud of the reports of Greek youth and the Greek people in general making patriotic demonstrations for Cyprus," Papandreou said.

Secretary-General U Thant appeared confident the Security Council would approve the compromise plan authorizing him to set up an international peace force for Cyprus and to appoint a mediator to seek a solution in the constitutional strife between the island's Greek and Turkish communities.

Benefits to Show Up From Tax Cut Starting Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal tax cut benefits will show up in paychecks of millions of Americans starting Thursday.

But the extra money gushing into the nation's spending stream—or savings institutions —probably won't total the $800 million a month estimated by some tax cut backers.

Some Would Store Benefits

A cross-country Associated Press survey showed a scattering of employes, mostly salaried, had asked that benefits be stored up for them.

Most workers apparently looked forward with relish to a reduction in taxes withheld.

"I want every nickel I can get my hands on to pay my bills," said a Cleveland employe of the Internal Revenue Service.

Employers reported few hitches in adjusting payroll procedures, especially concerns with automated bookkeeping. Basically, they hereafter will withhold 14 per cent of earnings instead of 18 per cent.

"We just changed a few wires in the machine and that was it," said Manley Eubank in Raleigh, N.C. Eubank's Central Data Processing unit runs off paychecks for 10,000 North Carolina state employes.

The $11.5-billion tax cut, largest in U.S. history, provides reductions averaging 19 per cent for 80 million citizens.

No Trouble for GM

"No trouble at all" or "it took only a couple of minutes" were common reports from employers, including such giants as General Motors Corp. with 640,000 employes.

In Salt Lake City, Mountain States Telephone Co. said it was "working frantically" to adjust its equipment. H. J. Heinz Co., with 7,000 employes, said at headquarters in Pittsburgh that its payroll staff was putting in extra work.

In cases such as these, the rub seemed to be in meeting employe requests for some treatment other than reduction in taxes withheld.

In Pittsburgh, Norman Reichert, assistant treasurer at Philco Corp. with a 22,000-man pay-

Fast Jet Was Kept Secret In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) —Development of the A11, the new 2,000-mile-an-hour jet plane, was so secret that only a few members of Congress knew about it.

This indicates the plane was developed with Central Intelligence Agency funds rather than the Defense Department's. While a number of congressional committees are privy to the Pentagon's activities, only a few senators and representatives are on the committee overseeing the CIA.

Not All Data Known

It means that the House, in recent debate on defense spending, did not have full information at hand when it overruled Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and approved an extra $40 million for research on an improved manned interceptor plane.

Existence of the plane was announced by President Johnson at his news conference Saturday. He said the planes, which can operate at higher than 70,000 feet, were being tested "to determine their capabilities as long-range interceptors."

Just Few Informed

Johnson noted that several key Congress members had been informed about the plane's development.

One member of the House, who knew about the A11 for many months, described its development as the best kept American secret since development of the atomic bomb in World War II.

In the House Armed Services Committee, for example, only a few members are believed to have known about the plane's secret development.

An informed source said that these few were informed because they have a special assignment that allows them to receive such information.

Fidel Would Give Water Again, Is Opposing Barry

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said early today he is ready to supply the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay with water once again.

"Cuba considers the incident of the water at Guantanamo Bay closed and is ready to supply the base with water once again," the prime minister told foreign newsmen at a Moroccan Embassy reception.

"It is up to the Americans to use that water or not," he added.

Castro cut off Guantanamo's water supply on Feb. 6 in retaliation for the arrest of 38 Cuban fishermen and the seizure of four trawlers in American waters off Florida.

Twenty-nine of the fishermen were returned to Cuba Feb. 21 with their boats after the four captains paid fines for poaching. Two fishermen chose asylum in the United States. The other seven were freed as juveniles and returned to Havana.

The U.S. government is not expected to take up Castro's offer to turn the base's water back on. It has plans to make the base self-sufficient with the use of desalinization plants that are to be built in the next year. The base is being supplied by tankers with water from Florida.

Castro also had another swipe

Wolter to Build 7 Homes on Land At Grand View

Hendrick A. Wolter, of Ulster Homes Inc., Woodstock, today said the corporation will build seven homes on a tract in the Grand View Avenue-Lounsbury Place area.

City planning board approval has been granted and the homes, ranging in price from $30,000 upward, are to be constructed in compliance with regulations of the city's new zoning ordinance.

Work is due to start as soon as weather permits, and it is hoped, he said, to have all completed by the end of the year.

Ulster Homes Inc., in recent years, completed several housing developments in the Woodstock, West Hurley, Shokan and other areas.

Possible Sale Indicated Of Old Cider Mill Land

Possible sale of the S. R. Deyo Co., property, 124-132 Flatbush Avenue, where a cider mill operated for many years, was indicated today.

Percy D. Deyo, of 30 Janet Street, president of the company today said "two parties" have been interested, but indicated no sale has been completed, to date.

The Common Council was asked Tuesday night to authorize change of the zoning designation to permit operation of a light industry on the tract of some seven and a half acres.

Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, noted that the site had been mistakenly classified as residential on the zoning map.

One source indicated that Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc., of Ten Broeck Avenue, has been interested, but no spokesman for that corporation was available today.

Deyo said no announcement will be made until a sale is completed, and then it must come from the buyer.

Another report indicated interest in devolpment of the tract for location of small industries.

Buildings on the property were badly damaged by fire some four years ago.

New Folk Ballad Features Story Of Girl Scouting

A new folk ballad that stems from an unusual source will have its first airing on radio and television stations across the country this week, March 8-14. This is Girl Scout Week and the Girl Scouts may soon find themselves with a hit song on their hands.

The song, called The Growing Up Tree, was originally commissioned by the Girl Scouts to serve as the sound track for a public service TV film spot. When composer George Kleinsinger and lyricist Joe Darion turned in their finished product, however, enthusiasm for the new song ran so high that the Girl Scouts decided to make a one-minute disk available to radio stations as a spot announcement, and to produce sheet music and a three-minute recording for commercial sale.

The Growing Up Tree is written in the folk style that has risen to heights of popularity in the last few years. The sound track of the TV film spot features two talented young folk singers, Barry Kornfeld and Carla Ratalo, accompanying themselves on guitars supported by a bass played by Wendell Marshall.

This same group performs the song on one side of the commercial recording. On the other side of the recording the song is sung by a chorus of 40 Girl Scouts.

Although The Growing Up Tree was planned to promote Girl Scouting, the Girl Scout identification does not appear until the very last chorus.

George Kleinsinger, the composer, is a well-known writer of children's songs including Tubby the Tuba, Peewee the Piccolo, and The Story of Celeste. He has written extensively for movies, stage and television. His first major achievement was a cantata of "I Hear America Singing, adapted from Walt Whitman's poetry.

Joseph Darion, the lyricist, has written several songs in the children's field including Litle Red Train to the Zoo and The Lollipop Tree. He has also written popular songs such as Ricochet, Changing Partners, Papaya Mama, as well as songs for Broadway, and songs in the opera field.

Mr. Kleinsinger and Mr. Darion have collaborated previously on two operas Archie and Mehitabel and The Tree That Found Christmas, and on the Broadway musical, Shinbone Alley.

Biologists Defended In Program on Deer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state conservation commissioner is supporting department employes against charges of "unwarranted slaughter" in the killing of more than 40 deer in the foothills of the Adirondacks.

Harold G. Wilm said Tuesday he saw no "cause for action" against the men despite charges by the Hamilton County Board of Supervisors.

The board, meeting in Lake Pleasant Monday, passed a resolution urging Wilm to demand the resignation of those responsible. The board also asked action to curb the department's powers.

The furor grew out of complaints by residents of the Moose River Valley area that the deer had been shot and that the opened carcasses had been left to rot.

Wilm explained that his men were forced to shoot the deer as part of their study to determine reproduction rates. From this study, he said, "we learned that the birth rate among deer in the Moose River Valley area has risen 50 per cent since 1940."

He said the men were professional biologists who were "only doing their jobs in repeating a study that has been made at intervals over the past 30 years."

Can Make Speeches But Not Allowed to Pay

RINGGOLD, Ga. (AP)—Candidates in the Catoosa County primary election can make as many speeches as they want, or they can shout from the housetops, says the County Democratic Executive Committee.

But no candidate must be called upon to pay for the opportunity to make a speech.

County Democratic Chairman Cortez Lamb said Tuesday night there is no rule banning public speeches on the part of the candidates.

Actually, said Lamb, the rule states that no candidates will speak before a fund - raising gathering of any kind unless it is approved by the executive committee.

It Was Mineral Oil

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Police held back spectators while the bomb expert cautiously defused the dangerous looking mechanism found behind the motel davenport.

Nitroglycerine equivalent to 40 sticks of dynamite, said the officer.

Then the city analyst identified the fluid as mineral oil.

Who put it there and why wasn't determined.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Last September when the U.S. State Department was busy arranging a three-day state visit of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, NBC was almost as busy preparing a report on the etiquette of a state visit.

The report, "Our Man In Washington," was shown Tuesday night.

NBC cameras were in State Department offices when Angier Biddle Duke, in charge of protocol, discussed final details with the Ethiopian ambassador.

Cameras were in the royal train as it drew up to the Washington station platform and a formal reception complete with a 21-gun salute.

Cameras were in the kitchens during preparations for a lavish State Department lunch [illegible]. They were behind the bar at the emperor's $9,000, 1,000-guest reception for official Washington.

Cameras were trai[illegible] President John F. Kennedy, looking healthy and tanned, as he received the emperor.

Sight of the late president was a damper to this viewer on the rest of the light-hearted program.

It was one of David Brinkley's occasional specials. Perhaps because of the presence of Kennedy, he seemed rather restrained in his comment.

Brinkley does have a keen eye for detail. He noted the care used to hang Ethiopian flags right side up — because they become Bolivian flags when upside down. His cameras lingered lovingly on bartenders' agile hands, on platters of meatballs and shrimps at the cocktail party, on the pastry gun making icing rosettes on a cake.

A touching moment was recorded after the emperor, an admirer of Abraham Lincoln, had laid a silver wreath at the Lincoln Memorial. As an interpreter translated the Gettysburg Address, tears were clearly visible in the sovereign's eyes.

"Our Man In Washington" made magnificent use of color. For those who saw the program in all its glory it was a most interesting 60 minutes. For others it must have dragged frequently. There was a marked tendency to linger overlong, like impolite guests, at the receptions and parties.

"Alfred Hitchcock Presents," dropped by CBS from next season's schedule, will return to NBC, replacing the "Eleventh Hour."

Recommended tonight: "The Danny Kaye Show," CBS, 10-11 EST.

Slingshots Become Weapons of Cowboys

WHEATLAND, Wyo. (AP)—The weapon of modern day cowboys, says Bob Lukens, has become the slingshot.

He is selling them by the hundreds to stockmen and cowboys who find them useful in flushing cattle and horses from brush. Lukens said cowboys also use them in shooting tranquilizing darts into livestock or subduing rattlesnakes.

Charity Bridge Tourney Slated At Stuyvesant

Kingston bridge players will compete in the world's biggest bridge game—in the annual benefit for the American Cancer Society and United Cerebral Palsy Association.

The local end is scheduled Friday night at 8:15 at the Stuyvesant Hotel. Area players will be playing the same hands as the country's leading experts are facing in the Spring National Championships at Portland, Oregon. The competition is sponsored and supervised by the American Contract Bridge League Charity Fund.

In the largest previous Nationwide Charity game, played in connection with the 1963 Spring Nationals at St. Louis, more than 24,000 players participated to raise more than $48,000 for the ACBL Charity Fund. The Kingston game, supervised by I. H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft raised a total of $144.

Friday's game will be played in more than 200 cities in the United States and Canada and is expected to attract 25,000 players. Locals interested may contact Wheatcroft.

Chiari Storm Eye of U.S.-Panama Woes

Family's Background Clue To 'Stand Up to Yankee'

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

PANAMA (AP)—In a second-floor suite of Panama's presidential palace sits Roberto F. Chiari, 59, wealthy sugar baron, cattleman and 32nd man to hold the office of president in the 60 years this little country has been a republic.

Chiari is the storm's eye around whom Panama's differences with the United States have been swirling.

Engulfed In Wrath

Like almost all responsible Panamanians, he has been engulfed in an unprecedented wave of nationalistic wrath over the killing of 25 Panamanians in the Jan. 9-11 violence near the Canal Zone border.

Out of this episode has been fashioned an unyielding official demand that the United States negotiate a new canal treaty if Panama is to restore diplomatic relations.

Almost all Panamanians seem convinced the 1903 treaty fashioned by President Theodore Roosevelt deprives this country of rights in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone and is also responsible for other injustices.

Some of Chiari's critics doubt that by himself he would have reached the sudden decision to break off diplomatic relations with the United States at the height of the disturbances.

Others hold that Chiari's and the government's positions were so grave he had to do something dramatic to stem a tide of emotion which might have toppled the government.

Stuck to Tradition

Those close to the president like to point to his family's background and tradition of "standing up to the Yankees" as a clue to a possible factor in his decisions. His father Rodolfo, the sixth Panamanian president, threatened to resign in 1928 if American troops were sent in—under terms of a constitutional amendment later abrogated—to supervise presidential elections which were threatened with violence.

The 5-foot-10, 145-pound president puts in a 12-hour day in the three-story, unpretentious looking palace. He likes semi-classical music and is an avid sports fan. In the big leagues he likes the San Francisco Giants. Asked about the Yankees, he smiled and replied "I am a nationalist."

Chiari had a good training for the presidency. He once was an aide de camp to his father.

Chiari cannot succeed himself in the presidency. He has remained aloof publicly from the political campaign leading to elections in May.

GIFT OF SERVICE

Despite its apparent simplicity—people helping people—it was an idea that couldn't work. It was iffy, full of hidden complications.

It was idealistic, and that was worst of all in a world of hard, cruel facts.

It was just another boon waiting to be doggled, a camel with his nose in the tent, a minor budgetary item ready to balloon into an oppressive, wasteful bureaucratic dollar-swallower.

But they gave it a try, and sure enough, the next year it was back, wanting more money and more people. And the year after that, the same story. Yet Congress was only too happy to oblige—for wonder of wonders, the darned thing worked.

People seemed to go for this "idealism" bit; you had to beat them away from the door. Not just youngsters, who haven't learned yet that idealism doesn't work in this world, but older folks, too—retired people, who ought to know better.

All of them wanted to give years of their lives simply to help others in any way they could. And those they helped loved it. Wherever the helpers came, the "Yankee go home" sign makers went out of business.

It was three years ago on March 1 that John F. Kennedy signed the presidential executive order setting up the United States Peace Corps.

It may well have been his greatest work.

ANNIVERSARY CHALLENGE

Are you, perhaps, a statistic that didn't happen? Are you a drowning victim who got a reprieve? Fifty years ago Red Cross began a Water Safety Program. Nobody knows how many thousands of persons since 1914 have never even come close to drowning because of Red Cross training.

During this anniversary year, we salute Red Cross and the thousands of volunteer instructors for their contributions to safety in and on the water.

While much has been accomplished in water safety, the anniversary also marks a challenging time. Over 6,000 persons still lose their lives by drowning each year. The population explosion means there are more people to be trained in water safety. The upsurge in the number of swimming pools, farm ponds, reclamation lakes, etc., creates more potential water hazards.

For Red Cross and other safety agencies to succeed in water proofing America, each one of us most cooperate. Everyone must learn and obey basic safety rules. Each of us must learn how to swim. At least one member of every family should be trained in first aid.

In noting this anniversary, let's vow to make "water" and "safety" synonymous in years ahead.

LITTLE ZIP IN ZIP

The Post Office Department's ZIP code, which was launched with considerable fanfare last July, is a great temptation to punsters. Suffice it to say that this Zoning Improvement Plan has not zipped very well thus far.

The extent of its failure was indicated the other day by one of the Post Office Department's regional directors. He acknowledged that, although the public is being encouraged to continue putting ZIP numbers on envelopes, the mail sorters are more or less ignoring the numbers and concentrating on the written addresses.

It is widely known, by now, that the five digits of the ZIP code number designate successively a national region, a state, a community and finally an area in the community. So far so good. The main difficulty is that hardly anyone seems to know the full ZIP code of the people he writes to.

It is easy enough to find out the regional and state numbers. Even city numbers can be readily learned in many cases. But how, short of writing to Aunt Esmiralda, does one discover Aunt Esmiralda's area number? The Post Office folk think the public will get used to the ZIP code in time. Meanwhile, it would be a good idea to ponder ways of acquainting people with ZIP numbers other than their own.

THE DOUBLE STANDARD ON HATE

Miami, Fla.:—Hate is a deplorable thing, and when liberals inveigh against it one can only endorse their generalizations. But when their writing and their speeches are ninety per cent devoted to denouncing the hatred expressed by "right-wing extremists," one is baffled by the Alice-in-Wonderland flavor of liberal reporting. It was no John Bircher who felled President Kennedy. And here in Florida it is not the "radical right" that menaces the crew of a Florida East Coast Railroad freight train every moment of its transit from Jacksonville to Miami, or vice versa.

People who are interested in keeping a tally sheet of the news about hatred would do well to think about the story of the Florida East Coast's attempt to keep its freight service going despite a year-old strike. The justice of the workers' cause in this strike is a matter for argument. But the methods used to keep the strike going have been flagrantly hateful, in addition to being quite illegal. To anyone acquainted with either the dictionary or the decalogue, there can be no distinction in morality between an attempt to blow up a Florida railroad train manned by human beings and planting bombs in a Birmingham, Alabama, church. Yet on the tally sheets of hatred kept by liberals, there is apparently no column for labor-fostered violence.

The hate-punctuated incidents in the Florida East Coast strike include 170 examples of vandalism and sabotage. Bridges have been dynamited. Locomotive engineers have been shot at. Rails have been removed from sections of tracks. Efforts have been made to tamper with switches. Power and communication lines have been cut. The homes of non-union employees have been splashed with paint, and private automobiles have been sprayed with acid. In at least one instance a man has been dragged from his car and beaten.

All of this constitutes a saga of hatred that challenges comparison with the doings in the Kohler strike in Wisconsin, Or in Panama or Venezuela, by Castro-trained guerillas.

In its struggle to keep its freight service going, the Florida East Coast management has made many discoveries that are calculated to spread panic among railroad workers who are committed, rightly or wrongly, to the theory that jobs are sacred whether they are necessary or not. This panic may explain the resort to violence. Before the strike the FEC had two thousand employees. It is now giving a full line of through freight service from Jacksonville to Miami with only 700 employees. By the old featherbedding rules, it took three separate five-man crews to take a train the length of the Florida east coast. One crew of five would handle the train from Jacksonville to New Smyrna, a total of one hundred miles, at a full day's pay for two hours and ten minutes of work. A second crew of five would carry on to Fort Pierce (a day-and-a-quarter's pay for 125 miles in two-and-one-half hours). And a third crew would go aboard at Fort Pierce to move things along to Miami (another 125 miles, at a day-and-a-quarter's compensation).

Faced with the necessity of using quickly trained supervisory employees and novices picked off the streets to get the trains from Jacksonville to Miami, the FEC found out that a single crew of four could take a train over the entire run in eight hours with no stops. In other words, four men could do the work of fifteen.

It is a standard argument of the unions that small crews and longer hours are inherently unsafe. But the Florida East Coast insists there has been a thirty-seven per cent reduction in train accidents per 100,000 freight train miles during the year of the strike, and a forty-six per cent reduction in personal injuries.

The unions, so it would appear, are afraid that the Florida East Coast might set a pattern for the whole country if it wins. But such a victory might save the railroad industry for the unions as well as for management. And even though the liberals don't seem to care, haven't we had enough of strike-born hatred that bursts into violence.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Now It's Time to Prepare For the Coming of R-Day

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some men achieve retirement and some have retirement thrust upon them. If it is not to be a colossal bore, you had better make some constructive plans well in advance of R-day.

These plans must take into consideration the three basic problems: living on a somewhat reduced income, maintenance of physical health and mental adjustment.

Your financial problem can be met by early participation in a sound annuity plan and wise investment of your savings. The health problems should be minimal if you have followed the rules of hygiene and if you have periodic health checkups. What then of the mental adjustment?

When it is possible to do so, the best plan is a gradual retirement in which for a few years some gainful part-time employment is pursued. This is a valuable cushion against too great a reduction in income and it has the further advantage of providing more time for the development of your hobbies.

The next best thing is to participate in some worthwhile community activity. Hospitals, churches, charities and political organizations are all greatly in need of volunteer workers. You can get the most out of this type of work if you show a willingness to serve without undue concern about getting credit or trying to run the show. Losing yourself in such a service will go far toward removing you from the category of the retired hypochondriac whose life is one long series of vitamin pills, gland injections and diet fads.

Hobbies are helpful, but must always be regarded as the cream in the coffee and not the coffee itself. Many a person who has looked forward to retirement as a respite from a boring job has lived to seek respite from a cherished hobby which has gone stale.

Recent studies have shown that the chances for survival in retired persons are better than for those of the same age who have not retired, when through careful planning the three problems mentioned have been solved.

A survey of retired persons revealed that in 23 per cent the health was worse after retirement, in 37 per cent it was unchanged and in 40 per cent it was improved. Several factors enter into the determination of your health after retirement, but undoubtedly a great deal depends on your attitude.

Most men do not relish being evicted from the jobs at which they have spent their most productive years. But anyone can develop a constructive attitude and find great compensation in a planned retirement. In the last analysis, how you solve this problem depends on you.

John Glenn Jr., who orbited the earth unscathed, slipped in the bathroom while shaving and hurt his head. His ego probably was hurt some, too.

A majority of doctors have quit or cut down on cigarette smoking, a survey shows. Next on the agenda is a study of new uses for ashtrays.

Newsmen want a chance to question the President more, and they want answers. Republicans question him plenty—and the fewer the answers the better they like it.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The power of the rural Old South to stand out against economic and racial policies it dislikes is being slowly eroded.

If you face a map of still-segregated southern school districts over one marking out the Old South's "most rural" areas, you find the overlay almost perfect.

These large co-extensive zones form an arc ranging down from the Carolinas through Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, into Arkansas and Louisiana.

It is in these sectors that heavy impact will be felt from the U. S. Supreme Court's recent decision calling for congressional districts to be more equal in population.

Even if a "less than ideal" standard of balance is applied, the 11 Old South states would see from six to eight rural districts vanish from the map in a major congressional reapportionment.

The benefits in fuller representation would go, of course, to the South's growing cities. Atlanta already has gained from action by the Georgia legislature. Dallas, New Orleans, Little Rock, Birmingham, Miami and other Florida cities are among those in line.

The outlook in Georgia is that Atlanta will most likely send to Congress a new lawmaker roughly paralleling the moderate stance of its present lone spokesman, Rep. Charles Weltner, Democrat.

ASSUMING OTHER STATES ACT within the next two or three years in response to the Supreme Court's edict, a considerable cluster of new Weltners could be added to the congressional roster—at the expense of more conservative rural legislators.

But these indicated power shifts from rural zones to city and suburb within the Old South are not the entire story.

Some of the states which encompass the South's rural "arc of resistance" are losing congressional seats altogether, as booming places like California carve out huge gains.

After the 1960 census Arkansas lost two seats, while Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina each lost one. Only the increases in relatively untypical Florida (4) and Texas (1) prevented a substantial net loss to the South.

MOREOVER, THE 1970 CENSUS will be rapidly upon us, with striking new changes indicated by current population trends. There have been estimates that California, which picked up eight new seats in the last redistricting, might gain as many as 10 more after 1970.

The state-to-state seat switches which will occur then will not chop away representation only from the South, or even the rural Midwest and Plains states. After all, this time urban New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts between them suffered a loss of seven seats.

But the congressional voice of the Deep South's conservative strongholds, rooted in rural territory, will nevertheless diminish in volume.

ANOTHER THING: In the inevitable redistricting which will follow the next census, further intrastate shufflings unfavorable to rural zones can be expected. For in the remapping, the drafters will have the 1964 Supreme Court ruling hanging over their heads. And by 1971-72, an even higher proportion of people — in the South and elsewhere — will be living in cities and suburbs.

As these changes go on, the South's conservative forces presumably will focus their efforts more and more in the U. S. Senate, the steady citadel beyond the reach of the shifting winds of population growth.

After Election Is Over How Will Johnson Act?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What goes on above the surface in national politics is not always a reflection of what is going on underneath. Thus, it would appear from public-opinion polls that President Johnson will be reelected and is going to carry the South. But this is very directly related to a word-of-mouth discussion among Democrats in several of the Southern states to the effect that Lyndon Johnson will not be the kind of President after election that he finds it necessary to be today.

Thus, for example, Mr. Johnson is represented as being required now to do everything that he can to retain the Kennedy supporters inside the Democratic party throughout the country. It is recognized that the pro-Kennedy vote is substantial, and that the Democratic national convention could produce a contest if Mr. Johnson didn't continue embracing Kennedy policies and affiliations in organization politics. It has even been suggested that Mr. Johnson should favor the selection of Attorney General Robert Kennedy as the Vice-Presidential nominee.

To counter this and avoid too much involvement with issues that might alienate the Southern voters, some of the political advisers in the Johnson entourage have been quietly advancing the fortunes of Peace Corps Director Robert Sargent Shriver Jr. Because the latter also happens to be a Roman Catholic, this is supposed to be one way of avoiding any criticism that the reason the Attorney General was not being favored had something to do with the religious issue.

But what are some of the Southern Democratic leaders counting on? They are assuming that, once Mr. Johnson has been elected, he will make policies in his own way and without obligation to any faction in the party. This can be of considerable importance to Southern voters because, once the civil rights law is passed the whole controversy will shift to the Department of Justice where, it is pointed out, Robert Kennedy will no longer be the Attorney General. The department will have sweeping powers and discretionary authority to enforce the law strictly or to move cautiously in attempting to achieve the objectives of civil rights.

It is significant, moreover, that in recent weeks some of the Negro leaders have talked more and more about the importance of consultation and conference in the local communities rather than enforcement problems. The theory seems to be that negotiating a peaceful settlement of individual local situations would be tried by the Administration before any severe measures were applied.

The whole picture being painted of a Johnson administration elected in its own right is one of conciliation and slow motion. This, of course, will placate some of the Southerners, especially those Democratic politicians who have to run for office this year and who are dependent upon the Administration's help in getting through Congress measures important to their areas.

Before the death of President Kennedy, there was a belief in the South that, by threatening to bolt the Democratic party, many electoral votes could be put in the doubtful column. But now the word seems to have been passed around that President Johnson, after election, will not be as hard on civil rights as his predecessor and that hence the South can afford to "go along."

If this theory becomes widespread and sinks in among the Southerners, it will certainly mean a more or less perfunctory filibuster in the Senate on the civil rights bill. Unquestionably, the Southern speakers in the Senate will talk with conviction and will make as many points on Constitutional questions as they can. But the impression today in some quarters is that the Southern leaders are going to accept defeat gracefully with the cry that "things are not as bad as they might have been" and by claiming that the House bill as finally passed did remove some of the worst features of the original measure.

But once the election is over, who is going to be proved right—the Southerners who believe Lyndon Johnson will act more as he did when he was a Senator from Texas, or those who believe he will continue to behave politically as he does during the coming campaign?

Sen. Richard Russell, of Georgia, expressed franky last Sunday his belief that Mr. Johnson could not do otherwise than to stand by the House bill and avoid compromises. But the view persists nevertheless that, once the November election is out of the way, the civil rights fight will become a legalistic affair in which the Department of Justice will have its hands full trying to keep peace in local communities and letting the schisms be healed by constant conference and negotiation.

It certainly looks as if President Johnson is going to get the electoral vote of a good part of the South unless local sentiment is aroused by persons other than the regular local nominees on the Democratic ticket—and at the moment there are no signs of any such uprising.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A few weeks ago I wrote a column in anger about the weak-kneed attitude of Uncle Sam at home and abroad. It created a small stir. There isn't time to write thank-you notes to the businessmen, the housewives, the students, the professional men and the clergy who took the time to pen notes. However, one question was repeated in about 75 per cent of the letters:

"Mr. Bishop, what do you believe in?" Permit me to answer that one.

I believe:

That I am lucky to be an American.

That this is the greatest nation in the greatest century in the history of man.

That there isn't one candidate in either party big enough to aspire to the Presidency of the United States.

That Red China should be admitted to the United Nations. We lock China's 600,000,000 people out, while permitting Cuba's 6,000,000 in. Let Red China fight the Russians where we can all watch.

That we, the people, are 180,000,000 political mutes, without voice direction or goals. We have retreated from political isolation to personal isolation. We are afraid to voice an honest opinion for fear it might hurt us in business.

That the world is now reduced to two great powers, which could soon be reduced to one. That one had better be Uncle Sam.

That no one can buy a friend. The more we do for other nations, the more they hate us. Let us do less, and find out who our friends are.

That we are not without stain. The Negro has been neglected and abused for 300 years and true, decent equality is dead ahead. But he will not speed the process by fainting on picket lines and forcing his own child into a class where the youngster cannot pass the academic tests. This is merely grafting the father's sins of illiteracy onto the son. Give the child a chance to catch up, and then demand integration.

That the war on poverty is a fake. Christ said: "The poor ye will always have with you." I will take His word for it.

That the greatest need in the American home is for discipline, and the worst thing a father can say is "My kid isn't going to have it as difficult as I did." Discipline implies increasing punishment for repeated errors. Teachers should be permitted to use rulers; policemen should be allowed to carry night sticks.

That Congress has done nothing to stop inflation, and will do nothing because a freeze on prices and wages would be necessary. This is anathema to a free people, but if something isn't done, our children will someday pay a dollar for a glass of milk.

That the Free Cuba Committee should issue $250,000,000 worth of $1 bonds, sell them everywhere, and buy surplus planes, ship and guns with the proceeds, enlist mercenaries from the free world, and go home fighting. The U. S. government should keep hands off.

That our problem in South Vietnam is not the Communists; it's our friends, there, a group of greedy cowards who permit us to fight for their freedom.

That whenever a small nation like Cyprus or Malayasia or Jordan fires a wild shot, we have to be first on the scene to stop it. We have stomped out so many small fires our feet are blistered.

That the U. S.-Soviet monopoly on nuclear weapons will end within five years. When that time comes, anyone may press a button.

That all states should have laws against carrying weapons, concealed or unconcealed, outside the home.

That, under our system, adequate medical and surgical care is impossible for the aged and poor. American medicine is now the highest paid profession in the world.

That non-sectarian prayer should be permitted in schools. Otherwise, the national motto, "In God we trust" makes hypocrites of us all.

That every person, from the age of 12 onward, should read one book a month. To be well-informed is to be well-armed.

That the death penaly should be abolished in favor of life sentences in which no one is eligible for parole for the first 20 years.

That engaged couples should be taught all about marriage — including the struggle for existence and the blunt truth about the opposite sex—before the big ceremony.

That, most of all, we need a leader as the Israelites once needed Moses: as Rome needed Caesar; as the split states needed Lincoln one hundred years ago. A big man.

What do I believe? I believe in these things . . .

Taiwan vs. Formosa

The United States Department of State officially adopted Taiwan as the name for Formosa. Both Communist and Nationalist China prefer this name, a Chinese word meaning "great bay." The Portuguese named the island Formosa, meaning "beautiful."

New Rifle Shoots Destructive Ray Instead of Lead

BOSTON (AP)—A lightweight laser rifle, which shoots a destructive ray instead of bullets, has been developed by Maser Optics, Inc., and turned over to the Army, it was announced Tuesday.

The weapon, lighter than the M1 rifle and powered by a back pack of batteries weighing less than 25 pounds, has been delivered to Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia.

The rifle's ray, the firm said, is not enough to inflict serious bodily harm but could set fire to a soldier's clothes. It could also blind someone at ranges of up to a mile.

Another use, according to Maser officials, could be to ignite explosive fuses or set fires. The weapon can fire at least one burst of light every 10 seconds and has a lifetime capability of 10,000 pulses or flashes.

Cypriots in Need

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The head of British Red Cross operations in Cyprus said Tuesday 40,000 Turkish Cypriots and 6,000 Greek Cypriots are in need of relief.

The report was made at a news conference by Sir Patrick Renison, who said 16,000 Turks are listed as refugees. The rest of the 40,000 needing relief are wage earners now out of work, welfare cases and dependents of men killed or wounded in the island's communal fighting.

Why We Say--

OLD BUDDIES

SOLDIER'S TERM: The expression, "buddy" was at first applied by the Scots and English to children as a term of endearment. It was used for offspring in the sense of buds on plants. In World War 1 American soldiers picked up the word in Europe and used it to designate close friends.

History Students To Present Model Session of UN

NEW PALTZ—Monday, March 9, the World History Classes of the New Paltz Central School will hold model United Nations Security Council Meetings to acquaint the students with the different purposes, functions and set-up of the United Nations.

The students will follow the same rules of procedure in conducting the meetings as the Security Council in New York. At the same time they also learn many of the important problems and issues of the times.

The students will be divided into different delegations, each delegation representing one of the eleven members of the Security Council: Bolivia, Brazil, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Ivory Coast, Morocco, Norway, U. S. S. R., United Kingdom and the United States. Each delegation follows as nearly as possible the actual policy of the country they represent on any given issue.

The students have been writing to the different foreign embassies in Washington and to the various delegations at the United Nations to obtain the official policy of a nation or on the many different issues. They also visited the United Nations last fall to learn first-hand the functions of that body and to obtain much material for this activity.

The sessions and the agenda are as follows:

9 a. m.-11a. m.—Resolution by the United States demanding removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

1 p. m.-3 p. m.—Resolution by the United Kingdom requesting non-interference in the affairs of Hungary by the Soviet Union.

8 p. m.-10 p. m.—Resolution by the Soviet Union requesting the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

The various resolutions on the agenda are the actual resolutions that have been debated by the Security Council in New York. At the beginning of each meeting the student delegations will each read a speech indicating their nation's position on the issue and then the meeting is open to discussion, debate and finally a vote on the resolution. The actual rules of precedure for the presidency of the Security Council is that the position shall rotate to a different nation each month. In accordance with these rules, China has been designated President of the Model Security Council Sessions.

The United Nations program is under the direction of Robert Bennett, World History teacher at the high school.

Secretary general at the first session will be Margaret Rode; second, Eric Faulkner and third, Sidney DuBois.

All meetings will take place in the high school auditorium and the public may attend.

Chile Volcano Is Calming Down, People Returning

TEMUCO, Chile (AP)—Villarrica volcano in southern Chile seemed to be calming down today, and some of the 30,000 people routed by its eruptions were returning home.

For the villagers of Conaripe, hardest hit by Villarrica's fury, there were only mud-covered ruins of what had been a scenic spot in this Andean resort area.

Of Conaripe's population of 138, police said three persons were dead and 22 missing after volcanic eruptions Monday sent an avalanche of mud and rock roaring down the 9,325-foot mountain, burying the town.

The unofficial toll for the ravaged area 60 miles around the peak was 22 killed and 35 missing. A spokesman at rescue headquarters set up in Temuco, 60 miles northwest of the volcano, said the number may rise as reports come in.

Villarrica began spewing flame, smoke and lava early Monday. The eruptions kept up most of Tuesday but by night the bursts of flame spurting from the crater were less frequent and less intense.

Heavy rains whipped the mountain valley for the sixth day. Rescue teams made their way along washed-out roads to try to deliver food and supplies to remote villages in the stricken region 500 miles south of Santiago. Much of the area was reported flooded.

The first relief squad to reach Conaripe reported that most of its residents reached safe ground minutes before the avalanche came crashing down Villarrica's southern slopes.

Villarrica's eruptions triggered avalanches elsewhere in a 60-mile radius, but there were no reports of serious damage to other villages. It was the worst eruption of Villarrica since 1948 when some 200 people were killed. Villarrica is in a volcanic area of the Andes where earthquakes killed hundreds in 1960.

Tree Replacement On 9W, Port Ewen To Be Discussed

A meeting of all property owners along Route 9W in Port Ewen who might be interested in having a shade tree in front of their property, as part of the proposed resurfacing project of the highway, has been scheduled for Thursday 7:30 p. m. by Esopus Town Board at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

The State Department of Public Works plans to resurface Route 9W from Ulster Avenue at the southern end of the village, northward through Port Ewen to the Rondout Creek bridge. If the necessary appropriations are made for this project at Albany, the work will probably be undertaken this summer.

Must Remove Trees

In connection with the project, a number of existing trees will have to be removed. Partially as the result of efforts of the Esopus Town Board, the state plans to plant a number of new trees to compensate for the trees that will have to be removed.

The new trees will be sturdy, young sugar maples of approximately three to four inches in diameter and about 16 feet in height. There will be no cost to the property owner for the planting of a tree. However, providing the property owner should desire a tree and would have the room for it, an easement would have to be given to the state to permit its planting. The state would have the right to trim the tree and take the necessary care of it.

Supervisor Roger W. Mabie has written to all property owners in front of whose properties present trees will be removed, listing the particular trees involved, telling them of the possibility of obtaining a new tree, and inviting them to attend Thursday's meeting. The meeting is also open to all other property owners along Route 9W in Port Ewen and any other citizen interested in the tree planting project.

E. E. Newhard, senior landscape architect for the State Department of Public Works at Poughkeepsie, will be present at the meeting. Newhard will explain further the highway project and answer questions pertaining to the tree planting phase of the work.

Plan Budget Allowance

Esopus Town Board has been concerned for some time about the removal over the years of many of the town's fine old shade trees and with nothing being done to replace them. As a result, the Town Board is considering a sum to be included in next year's budget to provide for the planting of a modest number of new, young shade trees. It is reported that the Port Ewen Business Men's Association is also interested in such a program.

State Checking Conflict Charges Against NYRA

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A top state auditor is looking into conflict - of - interest charges against trustees of the New York Racing Association (NYRA).

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt Tuesday assigned Deputy Comptroller Martin Ives — at the request of Senate Republicans — to the Senate Finance Committee in order to deliver into the NYRA's books.

The request for help from the Democratic comptroller came from Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, who made public a letter in which he asked Levitt to assign "your most qualified auditor."

The NYRA, a non - profit group, operates the thoroughbred racing tracks at Belmont, Saratoga and Aqueduct. It is seeking renewal this year of a $6-million annual tax concession from the state.

Mahoney sent Levitt a transcript of the charges made on the Senate floor by Sen. Seymour R. Thaler, D - Queens. Thaler's charges prompted the Senate to postpone action on the tax-concession measure.

Thaler charged that NYRA trustees let Aqueduct construction contracts to fellow members of the Jockey Club and the Field and Turf Club, that they paid excessive interest on money borrowed from banks and that the trustees' entertainment expenses ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Strike in Italy

ROME (AP)—Eight thousand employes of Italy's state radio and television network—RAI—began a three-day nationwide strike at midnight Tuesday.

It was the latest in a series of sporadic strikes by RAI workers to back demands for a "14th month" bonus at midyear. Most Italian workers get a so-called 13th month of extra salary at Christmas and some also receive the equivalent of another month's pay in summer.

Senatorial Convention Friday

Newcombe Plans Primary Fight if Bush Is Chosen

A contest has developed for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the 34th Senatorial District.

Lloyd R. Newcombe, Catskill business man, who has the backing of the Greene County delegates to the unofficial Senatorial meeting to be held at Hotel Stuyvesant on Friday, at which time a designation will be made, has announced that he will enter the primaries if he does not receive the unofficial designation Friday. Newcombe is backed by Greene County Republican Chairman Neal Brandow.

It became know today that Newcombe, a resident of Kingston prior to entering business in Catskill, will open campaign headquarters in Kingston shortly and will conduct his campaign from Kingston with local campaign headquarters in the other three counties of the district.

Greene Wants Post

Greene County has not had a senatorial office since 1905 and Greene County Republican leaders contend that they are entitled to the nomination this year. They go further and state that two years ago when Senator Bush was unanimously selected as the Republican candidate for his fourth two-year term, it was agreed that Greene County would receive the designation in 1964.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee and chairman of the 34th Senatorial District today announced the District Senatorial meeting for Friday noon.

Two Delegates Each

The 34th Senatorial District comprises the four counties of Ulster, Greene, Delaware and Sullivan. Each county will be represented at the meeting by two delegates and it is expected the county chairman of each of the four counties will also be present. It has been the custom for many years to hold unofficial Senatorial meetings in the 34th District for the purpose of selecting a senatorial candidate for the New York State Senate.

Senator Bush of Delaware county is completing his fourth two-year term in the State Senate and some time ago announced he would seek re-nomination.

No Compromise Is Word

Newcombe, 42, vice president and general manager of Amos Post, Inc., fuel oil dealer and garage proprietor, has been unanimously endorsed by the Greene County Republican Executive Committee and has opened an active campaign for the nomination. Posters were being placed today throughout the area and car-bumper stickers have appeared for Newcombe throughout the local area for the past several days.

A spokesman for Newcombe today said if Newcombe is not designated at the Senatorial conference Friday, he would enter the primaries on June 2. The spokesman said the Greene delegates to the Friday conference had not yet been named but would be pledged to Newcombe "all the way" and there would be "no compromise" by the Greene County delegates.

Rocky, Barry Train Guns on President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater today concentrated their fire on the Johnson administration as they stumped for votes in next Tuesday's presidential primary.

Rockefeller, hammering hard on economic issues, returned to the Granite State to open his final drive after accusing the and contradictory" foreign policy in a statement issued in Washington Tuesday.

Goldwater swept into the third day of his windup drive with a pledge to end what he called "wheeling and dealing" government in Washington.

GOP Scores in Louisiana

While Rockefeller and Goldwater battled it out in New Hampshire, Republicans in Louisiana made political history by polling nearly 40 per cent of the votes in Tuesday's election for governor.

Democrat John J. McKeithen was elected, but Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr. polled 200,000 more votes than the GOP received in the state's last governor's election in 1960.

As he opened a drive that will last until voting starts in New Hampshire Tuesday, Rockefeller said the Johnson administration did not believe in the free enterprise system.

He issued a statement at Concord in which he said New Hampshire would need 50,000 jobs over the next five years—and the nation 20 million. They can only be provided, he said, by an administration that would "encourage the growth of free enterprise."

Goldwater, speaking to about 400 in Nashua Tuesday night, said he was seeking the nomination because he sees no other candidate who will champion "a rebirth of principle, individual worth and dignity" as opposed to what he said is threatened government control of the American way of life.

Scranton Adds Attacks

In what sounded to many like a campaign speech, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton told the Economic Club in New York City Tuesday night that the Democratic party has a "built-in deadlock" and is hamstrung by its reactionaries.

Scranton said the Democrats were largely to blame for what he called "failures that dot the national landscape." The governor says he is not a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination but would accept a draft.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon called for a selective embargo against foreign firms that deal with Cuba by denying them a market in the United States. He told a luncheon of the New York Building Congress Tuesday that an oil blockade might "possibly be the next step" but added he did not feel this was necessary now.

In California, State Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk was expected to announce that he would not run for the U.S. Senate. Gov. Edmund G. Brown had urged Mosk to keep out of the race.

State Controller Alan Cranston, backed by Brown and the powerful California Democratic Council, is running against ailing Sen. Clair Engle, a Democrat who underwent brain surgery last summer.

Davidson Leaves Army in April

NEW YORK (AP)—Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, football coach at the U.S. Military Academy from 1933-38 and West Point's superintendent from 1956-60, is retiring from the Army next month. He'll be 60 on April 24.

Davidson, now commanding general of the 1st Army, headquartered on Governor's Island in New York harbor, journeyed Tuesday to the New York main recruiting station in lower Manhattan to take a physical examination prior to retirement.

It was the same red brick building where, as a Bronx high school senior, he had taken his pre-induction physical exam 41 years ago. "I didn't know what the hell I was getting into," he said, recalling that day of March 6, 1923.

Fidel Would Give

for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who after the water was cut off said the United States should send a battalion of Marines to turn the water on.

Asked what he thought about the U.S. presidential race, Castro replied: "I am rooting for Goldwater because I believe he will lose votes that way. I am even ready to send him a small contribution for his campaign.

"I think Goldwater will not win in the election because the American people, like any other people, want peace and they don't want to die. The Republican programs are aggressive and stupid and I believe that they will lose."

Sinatra Jury Is Due to Receive Case on Friday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Judge William G. East has set a target date of Friday for the jury to retire in the trial of three men charged with kidnaping Frank Sinatra Jr.

Judge East asked counsel for three defendants and the government prosecutor Tuesday for estimates of time needed for witnesses and arguments. When given, he observed: "Good, that means the jury will get the case Friday."

Joseph Amsler, 23; Barry Keenan, 23, and John Irwin, 42, are accused of kidnaping young Sinatra from his Lake Tahoe, Nev., motel room last Dec. 8.

Amsler's cross - examination by the government took the better part of two days. Should the other defendants take the stand, cross-examination could conceivably upset the court's target date.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas R. Sheridan Tuesday injected a barroom mystery man into the testimony as a backer — the third so cited—of the alleged kidnaping.

The defense all along has shouted publicity hoax while the government contends the plot was real. Sinatra Sr., paid $240,000 ransom for the safe return of his son.

Sheridan asked Amsler:

"Is it not true, Mr. Amsler, that you were approached by a richman in a bar and he had a foolproof plan for kidnaping Frank Sinatra Jr.?"

"No," answered Amsler.

The man in the bar was not named by the prosecutor, nor was the question pursued further.

Earlier, Amsler had named rock 'n' roll singer Dean Torrence and a mysterious "Mr. West" as backers.

Harlem Clerics Oppose Second School Boycott

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-two Harlem ministers—all but one of whom supported the Feb. 3 school boycott here — said Tuesday they were opposed to further boycotts as being against "the best interests of our children.

In Brooklyn, the Rev. Milton A. Galamison, a Negro Presbyterian minister who spearheaded last month's boycott, said the second one he called for March 16 "will go on as scheduled," despite the statement by his 42 Protestant colleagues.

Galamison is chairman of the citywide committee for integrated schools, composed of several civil rights groups which are demanding full school integration. The committee staged the one-day boycott to demonstrate support for its demands. Some 464,000 children—364,000 more than usual—stayed away from classes.

Blames Cigarette Scare for Dip In Texas Revenue

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Treasurer Jesse James blames the cigarette smoking scare for a $1.2 million drop in revenue from the state cigarette tax during February.

"Looks to me like a lot of cigarete smokers are cutting down or quitting," James said Tuesday. "I don't know how else to explain it."

February cigarette tax stamp sales were $5,651,381, compared to $6,864,599 in February, 1963, James said. Sales this January were $7,301,882.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —Jurors returned today to their work of sifting through six weeks of testimony to determine if James R. Hoffa tried to rig another fedrral court jury.

The Teamsters president says their verdict will determine his future as a labor leader.

After deliberating 2 hours and 50 minutes, the jurors went out for lunch at noon without any indication a verdict is in sight.

Texan Has Court Date On Adlai's Charge

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 22-year-old Irving resident, accused of spitting upon United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson last October here, must appear in court Thursday.

14 'Skin' Players Summoned Before Grand Jury 11th

Fourteen persons who authorities reportedly surprised in the act of playing "skin" in an office in Field Court off Central Broadway Monday afternoon, are scheduled to appear before a grand jury on Wednesday, March 11.

Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt said city detectives in command of Lt. Lemuel Howard, in charge of the detective division, and state police BCI officers, took part in the Monday afternoon raid.

Vogt said each of the 14 persons, who allegedly were playing "skin" when police entered the office, was served an on-the-spot subpoena directing each to appear before the grand jury next week for questioning.

Authorities went to the Field Court office at the direction of the district attorney's office, Vogt said.

Investigation of alleged violations of the gambling laws in this area has been under investigation by the office of District Attorney David Corwin for some time, and in recent months arrests have been made.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices of coffee and gyrations in the price of sugar mean more to the average family than increased prices of steel and aluminum products. And so do any boosts in commutation or other transportation costs and any increase in medical fees or hospital insurance.

Nervousness Evidenced

So nervousness over a possible widespread increase in the price of goods and services is being evidenced increasingly. Nor does it help to learn that Britain, having prospered mightily after a cut in taxes, is now threatened with inflation, as are the increasingly affluent economies of many Continental European nations.

The United States also is trying a tax cut to boost economic growth. And the pundits, both on Capitol Hill and in banking and industry, are assessing its possible effects on the prices of commodities. These have stayed remarkably stable in recent years.

The upward trend in the cost of living has been traced rather to the increased charges for services and the greater costs of distribution of goods.

The Joint House-Senate Economic Committee is of two minds about the effect of the American tax cut. The $11.5-billion slash, meaning additional consumer buying power, will just boost economic growth but won't set off another inflationary trend—so says the Democratic majority.

The Republican minority says the size of the cut is "likely to result in a buildup of inflationary pressures."

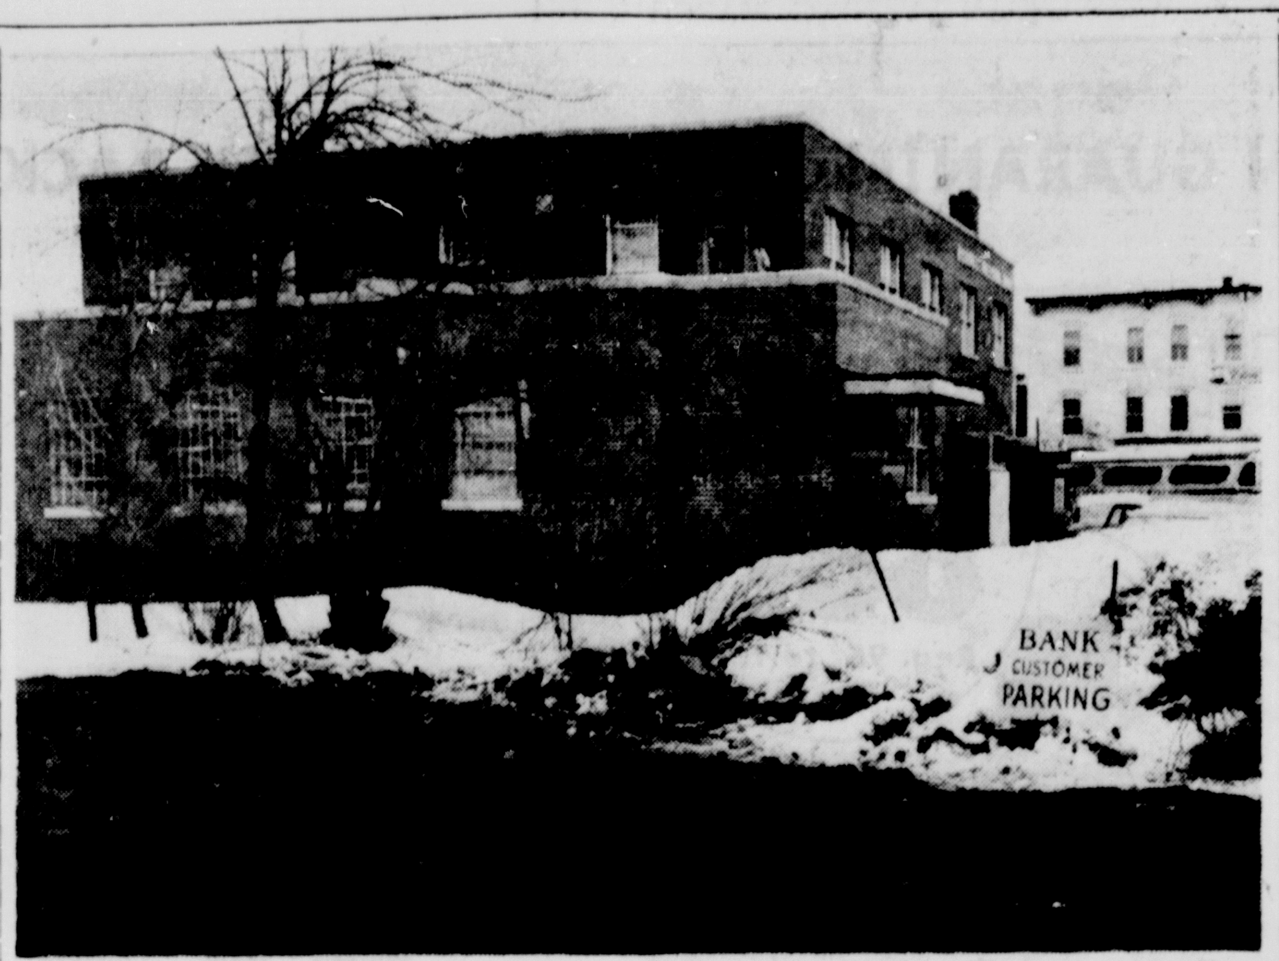
Several Pressure Points

If this pressure develops it could come from several things. A big buying spree could build up demand for goods to a point where industries currently regulated by competition would be free to raise prices.

Or the pressure could come from labor's announced intentions to ask for larger pay increases this year inspired at lease in part by the jump in 1963 corporate profits—put at 10 per cent over 1962, with the increase in the 1963 fourth quarter over the third coming to 22 per cent.

Wage increases, tied in with greater buying demand, might result in higher production costs being passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

Finally, those who fear inflation charge that the price-wage spiral might be given an additional whirl by government financial policies. What is feared is a combination of tax cuts, increased government spending, Treasury deficits, and easy money policies that could spell monetary inflation. The argument is that any marked increase in the supply of money and credit could inspire price boosts and wage demands, eventually wiping out any advantages from cutting federal income tax rates.



NEW ADDITION AND PARKING AREA— New 3,000 square foot addition to Rondout National Bank at 635 Broadway provides a second drive-in window facility. New parking area (foreground) will, when paved, provide space for an additional 25 cars. The addition is designed to permit construction of a second story. The site is the former Patrick Murphy property. Harry Halverson is the architect and Henry Swart & Son, 58 Pearl Street, were the general contractors. Rondout National has been at the present location since 1953 and will celebrate its 106th anniversary some time in April. (Freeman photo)

Slippery Bridge Floors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — On the theory that bridge surfaces freeze before roads because heat can escape from underneath as well, an Ohio State University research team has insulated undersides of two Interstate highway bridges with foam.

So far, they say, results show uninsulated bridge surfaces remain frozen 30 per cent longer than the adjacent highway, while insulated bridges stay icy 15 per cent longer. Uninsulated bridges freeze earlier than insulated ones also, researchers say.

The team is working with Ohio's Department of Highways.

Carol Lawrence Trying to Keep Up With Career

By DAVE SMITH

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Carol Lawrence is a busy little body these days, frantically trying to keep up with the career surge brought on by her role in the musical drama "West Side Story."

"And you know what?" she says, "I'm dead on my feet. Soo-o-o tired." The dark - eyed, raven-haired beauty droops visibly, just thinking about it.

Honeymoon Delayed

She has been touring and appearing on television as a singer and dancer.

She is also busy being a newlywed. She and actor - singer Robert Goulet — were married last August. So far their career demands have postponed a honeymoon.

"But after I close here (the Cocoanut Grove) on the 8th I just have one show to do for television, and then I'm going to rest. I plan to just relax and read and regain my perspective," she says.

"That's the most important thing in the world to me—perspective. Figuring out what I want, what I'm willing to do for it, and assessing what I'm doing now. I've got to keep reading, thinking, learning new things about life—or just about my work."

She muses over her longer - range plans.

"It's really hard to say which aspect of the business I love the most—dancing, singing, or acting. I started as a dancer, of course, but as I get older (she's all of 29 now), the dancing will probably be the first thing to go. Then, I suppose, the voice. So I guess I'll have to rely on acting to carry me over the long haul.

"But at that, I'm lucky. No performer trains as hard as a dancer. Dancing teaches you things about other aspects of performing that you simply do not run across any other way. And it keeps you in good physical condition much longer than most people.

In Perfect Shape

"Not too long ago Bob and I were with Harry Belafonte at a Peace Corps camp in Puerto Rico. They had an obstacle course there — ropes to climb, slack ropes to walk across and all that — and they asked me if I'd like to try it. I'll do anything once, so I did. And I passed the whole thing first time. They were amazed! And they said passing the course qualified me for assignment to Peru! So you see, I'm in pretty good shape, don't you think?"

You couldn't agree more. Her shape is perfect.

The student was lazily watching the professor play a little rubber bridge.

He nodded approvingly when the professor opened one no-trump instead of one diamond. The student had learned to open such hands thusly.

The professor ducked the first heart, but had to win the second. Then the student sat bolt upright in his chair. At trick four the professor led the ace of diamonds.

The play turned out to be a winner because it dropped West's singleton king and the professor proceeded to rattle off 11 tricks. But it was a trifle beyond the student's understanding.

He asked, "I know your play worked, but why did you refuse to take that diamond finesse?"

The professor replied, "I refused ot take the diamond finesse because I was anxious to win the rubber. I was willing to let East win a diamond trick because if he gained the lead he would not be able to hurt me. I still missed three hearts.

"If they divided two-one, I could only lose two more tricks in that suit. If they divided three-zero, the only danger would come if West could get in the lead I could do nothing if he held the guarded king of diamonds, but I could and did take care of the singleton king."

Kennedy Won't Be Pushed Into Any Answer About VP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is "staying loose" in the face of persistent reports that he is a leading contender for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

He has not taken himself out of the picture.

But he solemnly, and to all comers, refused to indulge in speculation about any possibility President Johnson will ask him to join him on the ticket.

He is seemingly unconcerned or amused by speculative pieces in the press that he not only would accept the nomination but is actively seeking it by his increasing public appearances.

"If I stayed away from the public they'd say I was sulking in my office," he told a reporter.

"I'm not going to say anything to answer these stories. I just haven't made up my mind about the future and there's no reason why I should be pushed into making it up."

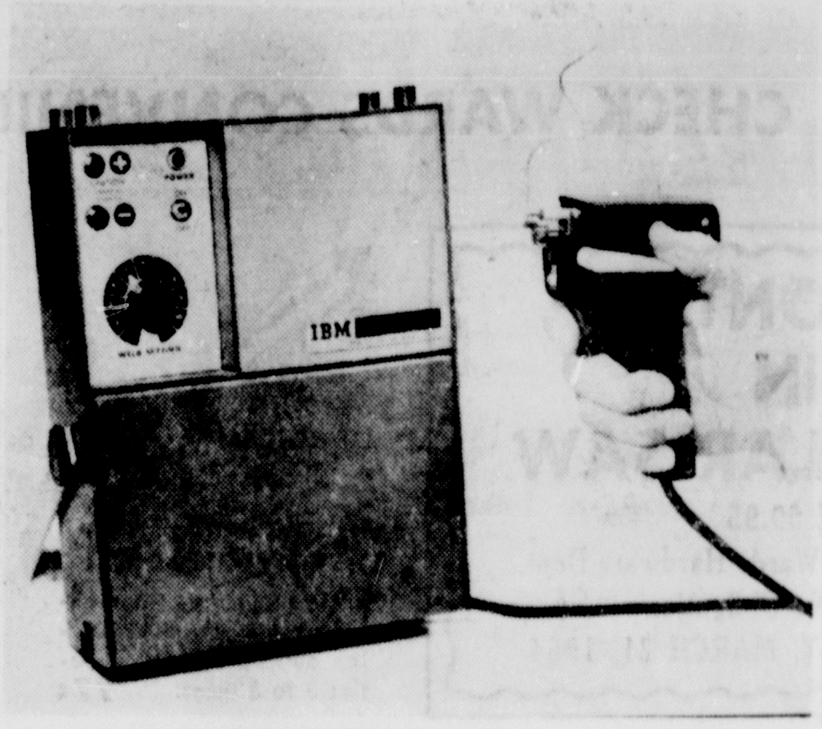
Mother Makes Sure

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A mother made sure her son got his third dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine.

The mother was Mrs. Mozelle Wallace, an employe of the State Health Department. She administered the third dose to her son, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, Tuesday.

Expression's Origin

The expression "to get the brushoff" started with Pullman porters, who were said to give their best service to high tippers, while other passengers would be dismissed at the end of a trip with just a quick brush with a whisk broom.



LOCAL IBM DEVELOPS WELDER—The IBM PW-200 Percussive welder, developed at the Kingston IBM plant and which will be manufactured here, has been announced for sale by the industrial products division of the corporation. The device is a tool designed to weld wires to terminals in electronic assemblies. It produces more reliable welds in less space, and can weld wires of various metals and diameters to a variety of terminal shapes. The welds are stronger than the tensile strength of the wire joined to the terminal, and are more resistant to vibration, shock, and temperature variations than conventional wire terminal connections.

Wallace Wants TV Debate on Rights

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George Wallace has called for a nationwide televised debate on the pending civil rights bill.

In telegrams to the presidents of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co., Wallace suggested Tuesday that the networks sponsor such a debate.

The governor said he is convinced there is "an appalling and astonishing lack of knowledge" about the civil rights legislation.

Colorado Family Winds Up in Hospital

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Pearl Beeson saw her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shaw, being assigned to the other bed in her Lincoln Park Hospital room.

Both were hospitalized for treatment of circulatory ailments. Down the hall Mrs. Beeson's grandson, Charles Mills, 6, was bedded with rheumatic fever.

When Charles' mother got home from taking Mrs. Beeson to the hospital, she found Charles Shaw—her father—had fallen down the stairs and broken some ribs.

He stayed home to recuperate.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Picking Up Life As Plain Citizen

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are bound to be "low days" and the waves of terrible remembrance, but Mrs. John F. Kennedy is picking up her life again as a private citizen in quiet Georgetown.

"She's getting along quite well," friends report three months after her husband's assassination.

Mrs. Kennedy is engrossing herself in her children, her newly purchased home and memorials to her husband, especially the John Fitzgerald Kennedy library project.

She has been dining out with friends, is seen in neighborhood stores, went on a recent holiday weekend with friends on a Georgia plantation and took her two youngsters to a circus performance.

Secret Service men kept photographers away and few paid attention to the former first lady during the circus outing.

Mrs. Kennedy, however, can never again really be just a private citizen. Every day, as the sightseeing buses ride by and police and Secret Service men maintain their 24-hour guard, she is reminded of it.

Robin Likes Indoors

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—"Charlie," the first spring robin in suburban Colonie, likes television, roast beef and the indoor life.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliveri found the baby bird half-dead in their back yard last August and have raised it in their seven-room home. So far, he is perfectly content to remain inside.

CHEVELLE! by CHEVROLET—a great highway performer

Malibu 4-Door Sedan

Malibu Super Sport Coupe

Malibu Super Sport Convertible

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

We didn't just cook up a batch of engines for Chevelle and call it performance. You can get performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8 for starters—and optional at extra cost there's a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, even a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more.

Size, for instance. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. That much less weight to carry around. Maximum performance-per-pound, and every pound counts.

The space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. It rides like you want a car to ride—comfortably—on a 115-inch wheelbase.

To give you the most out of this engine performance and riding comfort, Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission.

And knowing it would strike the right note with a lot of different people, we gave Chevelle 11 models—in three series. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options: everything from power seats to air conditioning, power windows to Positraction.

Knowing all this, what's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

TEEN SENSATION?—Move over, Beatles, and make way for Rita Pavone, an 18-year-old Italian singer who just might become America's next rock 'n' roll sensation. Her records have sold more than 3 million copies in Italy. She's in New York to cut her first English-language disc.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time I am asked about an old newspaper. Of course reprints of the Jan. 4, 1800 Ulster Gazette are still being found, which described the funeral of George Washington. There are only two known originals, and none left in Kingston, as far as I know, although it was published here by Samuel Freer and son. You may see copies of it at the Senate House Museum. Any other date, may be an original, but not the Jan. 4, 1800, so it seems. One businessman in Rondout showed me his copy, which seemed old, but on very thin paper, and very brittle. In understand Dr. Vail's book, on the "Ulster County Gazette" is in our Kingston City Library, in which are illustrations of the mastheads, or front page.

Back in March 15, 1949, I received a letter from Mary B. Brewster, reference librarian of the University of the State of New York of the New York State library on the Ulster County Gazette. She wrote in part: "We have in this library received communications from persons in every state of the Union and as regularly as once a week throughout the year. If you ever hear of an original,—one which answers the tests given in form letter enclosed, please have the owner of such a paper communicate with us!"

So again, just for the record, this from the tests: "The original is printed on soft, pliable, rather thick and uneven paper. The last line of column one, on page one, reads "liberal execution of the treaty of amity." The first line of column four of the first page reads "command the town; and notwithstanding."

In 1949, there were in existence some 75 varieties of reprints of the original Gazette, because of the Washington funeral coverage. The New York State Library at that time was interested in obtaining an original copy of the paper, and in fact they wanted some of the reprints which they did not have, as they wrote me: "If yours appears to be a reprint and you wish to present it to us, or offer it for sale for one dollar, we shall be pleased to examine it."

I was talking about this to Louis Ellenbogen who has a large variety store corner Broadway and East Union Street the handsome three story brick and bluestone building, with a handsome iron balcony, as of the days of craftsmanship no longer available. This building is now in the Broadway-East Urban Renewal project. Mr. Ellenbogen showed me a Rondout Freeman of Saturday, Aug. 8, 1846 which is in excellent condition and readable although some 118 years old. This newspaper is "soft, pliable, rather thick and uneven paper," for in those days there was a large rag content in paper. I once had the loan of an 1817 Ulster Gazette put out by the Freers and it was of the same texture.

Back in the early 1920's in the days of the two ferries, one going to Rhinebeck and the other to Sleightsburgh, Margaret D. O'Reilly and Mrs. Anna M. Beach had a fashionable millinery shop at 64 Broadway, now the Ellenbogen building. Those were the days when Easter bonnets were brought there by not only the neighborhood trade, but ladies came from all over the city. Very often you chose the straw hat, and the ribbon and the trimmings like flowers, and then Mrs. Beach or Miss O'Reilly would trim it to suit. For children, they sewed on elastic in the hat, usually a sailor hat with a bow ribbon.

Today is Wednesday, March 4, the 64th day of 1964. There are 302 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date

In 1629, the Massachusetts Bay Company received a royal charter, then was transferred to America where it became a colony instead of a ruling body in England.

In 1909, the first national game law was passed forbidding the transportation of birds.

In 1933, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was inaugurated for his first term as President of the United States.

In 1945, the Russians reached The Baltic Sea in their drive across Germany's province of Pomerania during World War II.

Ten years ago...Chicago lawyer J. Ernest Wilkins became the first Negro to hold secondary Cabinet rank when President Eisenhower appointed him assistant secretary of labor in charge of international labor affairs.

Five years ago ... President Eisenhower said it would be futile and disastrous for the non-Communist world to mount a general mobilization to achieve constant readiness against possible Russian attack.

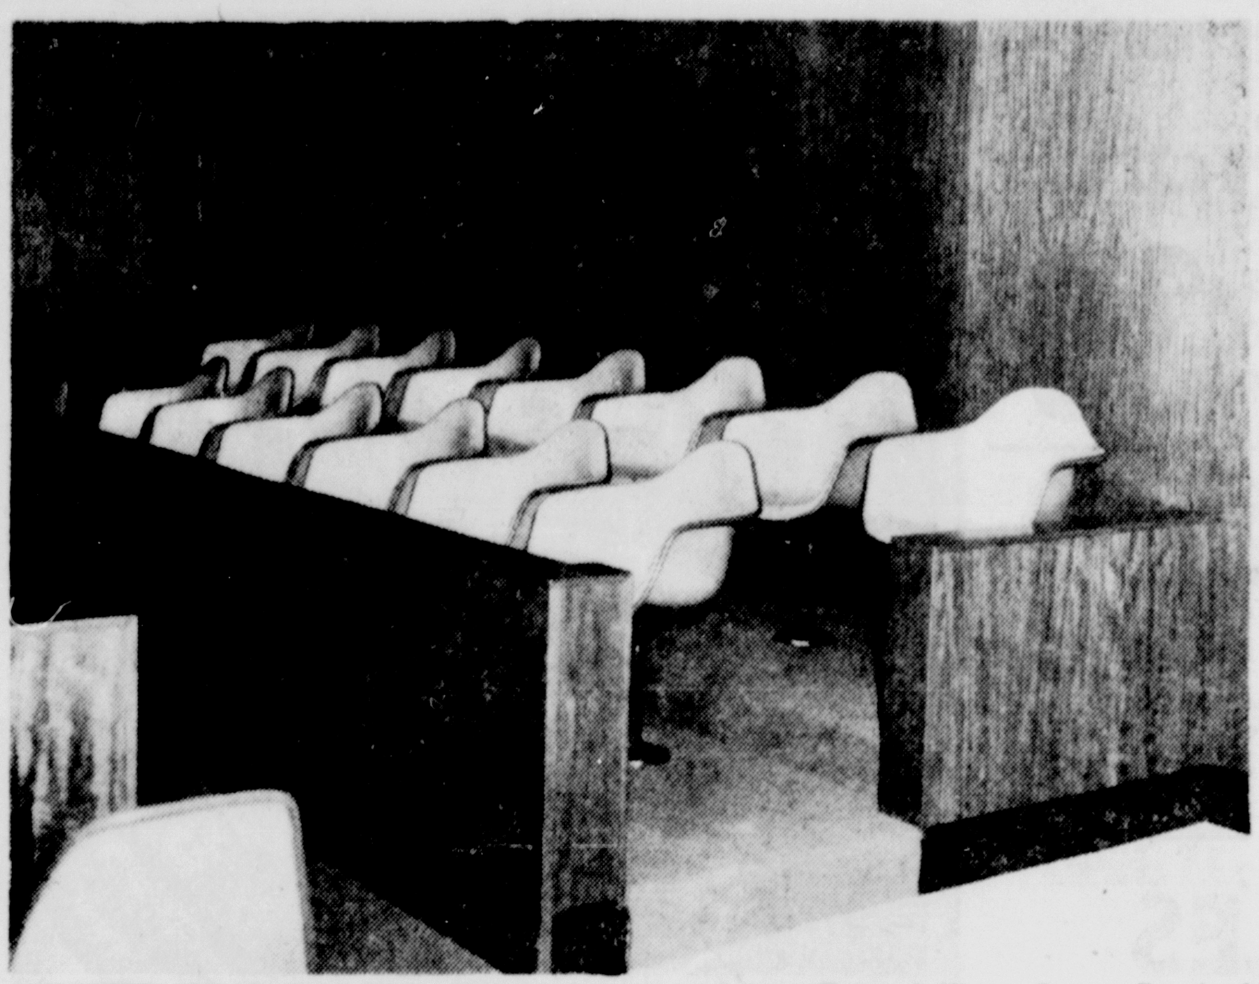
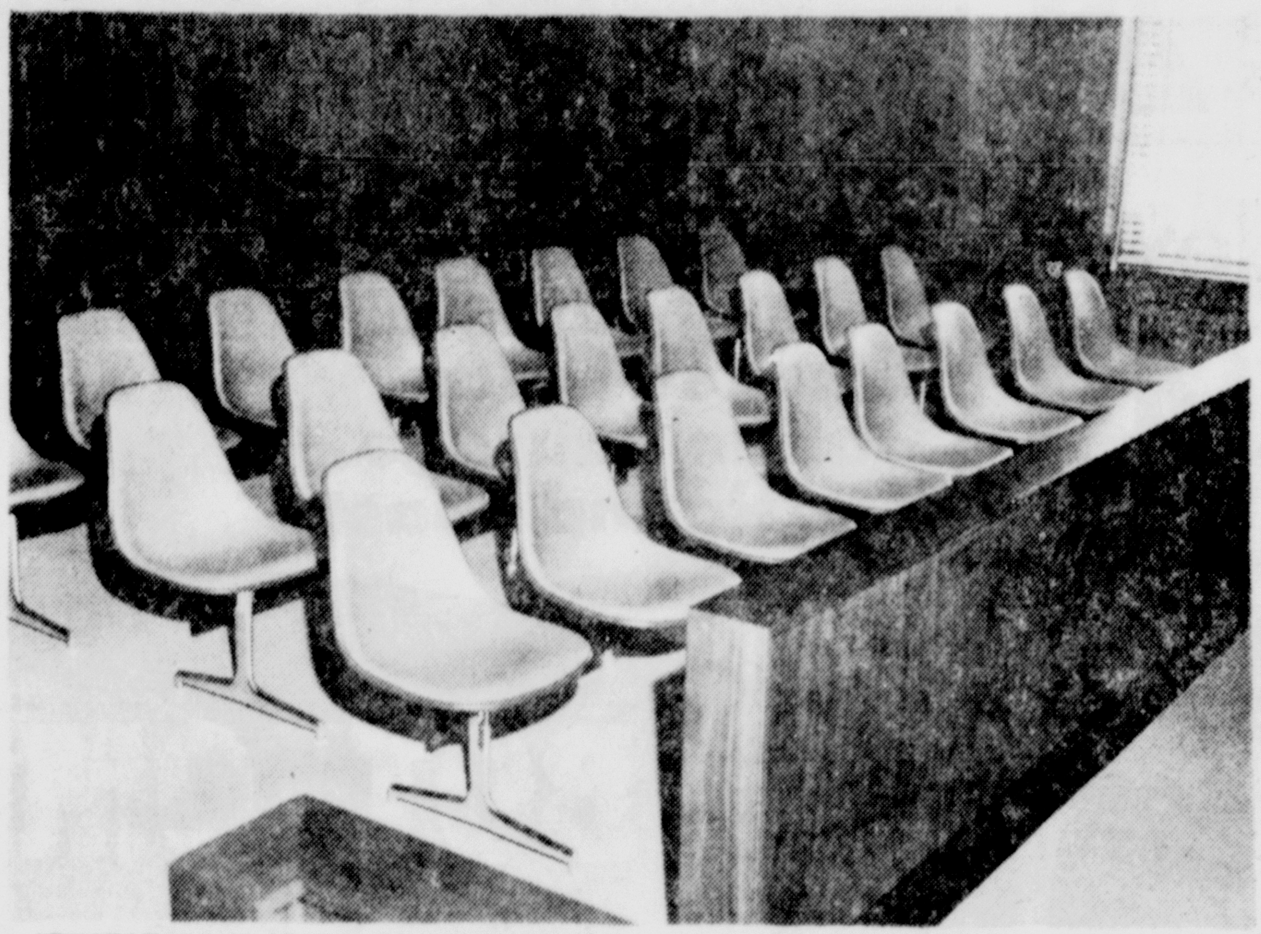
Expect New Office Building to Alleviate Court Problems

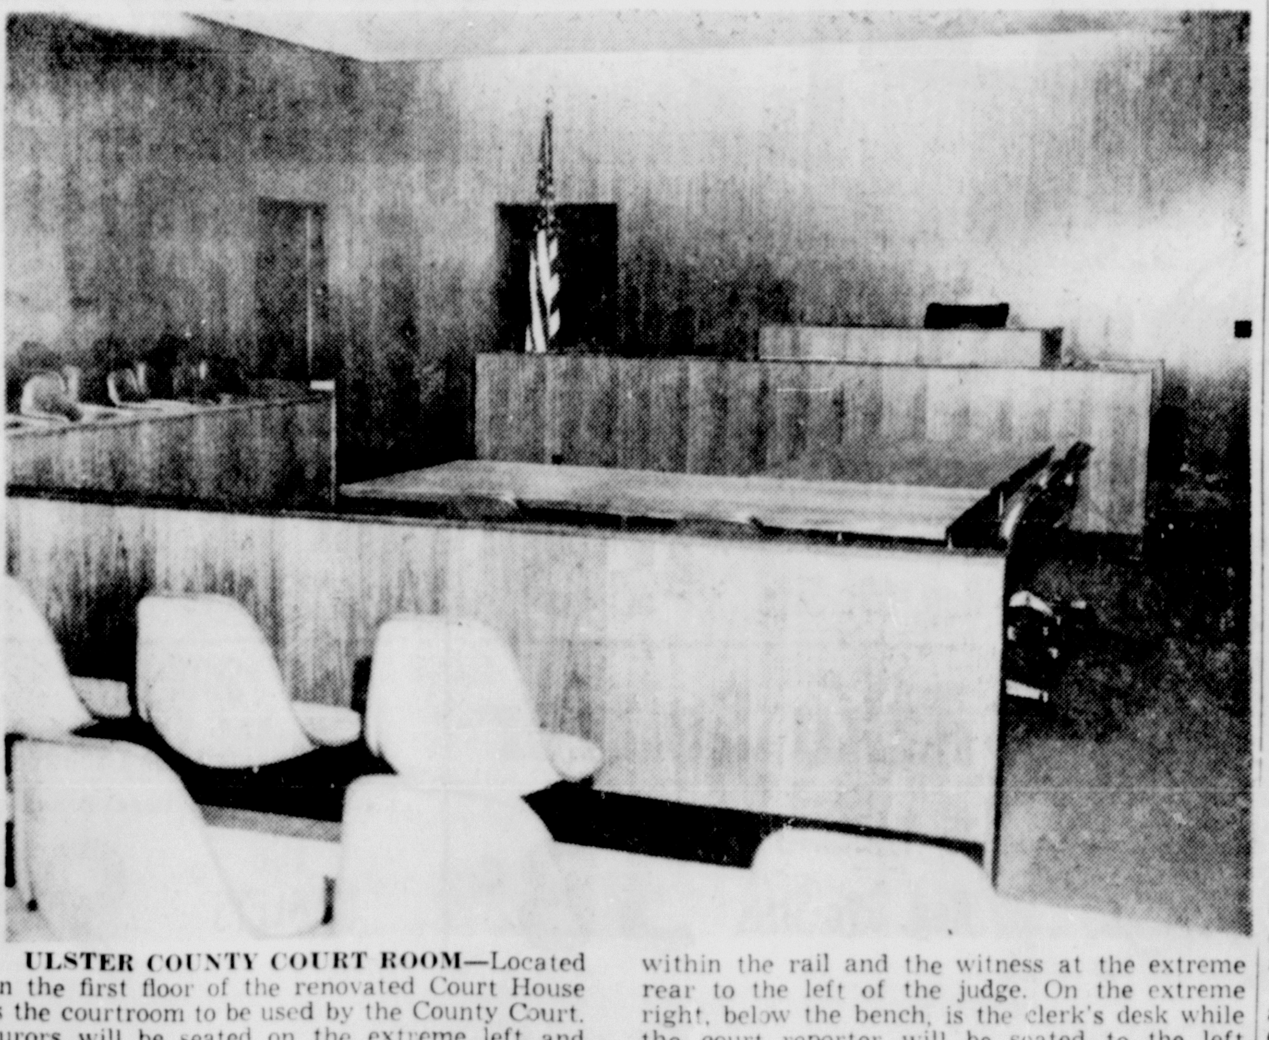


SUPREME COURT JURY BOX—Modernistic metal seating for trial jurors in the new first floor courtroom in Ulster County Court House, are upholstered in gold. The courtroom formerly housed the offices of Ulster County Board of Supervisors, and are located at the rear of the building.



SPECTATORS SEATING IN NEW COURT ROOM—Room for 24 spectators is provided in the first floor Supreme Court room in the Court House. The seats are brilliantly upholstered in orange and the room has been referred to as the "Tangerine Room." It will provide a courtroom for two parts of Supreme Court to be held simultaneously and is expected to speed trial work and clear the Supreme Court calendar of its present backlog of cases.

REVAMPED GRAND JURY ROOM—On the third floor of the County Court House future grand juries will sit in brilliant red upholstered bucket seats facing the witness in the witness box shown at right. In front of the paneled rail will be seated the Grand Jury foreman, acting foreman and clerk.



ULSTER COUNTY COURT ROOM—Located on the first floor of the renovated Court House is the courtroom to be used by the County Court. Jurors will be seated on the extreme left and spectators will occupy the modern chairs shown in the foreground. Attorneys will be seated within the rail and the witness at the extreme rear to the left of the judge. On the extreme right, below the bench, is the clerk's desk while the court reporter will be seated to the left below the witness box (Freeman photos)

Facilities at the historic Ulster County Court House on Wall Street will be devoted almost exclusively to the judiciary when the new Ulster County Office Building is completed next fall. Offices formerly used in the court house will move from temporary quarters to the Main Street site.

The Sheriff's Department and the offices of the district attorney will remain in the court house, along with the Supreme and County Court facilities.

3 Courtrooms Available

Three courtrooms will be available, making it possible to hold two parts of Supreme Court at one time as well as the County Court.

On December 20, 1962, the board of supervisors through a $200,000 bond issue, made funds available for the renovation of the court house. This included the erection of a fireproof stairway leading from the basement to the third floor of the building; installation of an elevator serving all floors, and the complete renovation of the interior of the building and the sandblasting of the exterior to restore the native stone which had been painted in years past.

In renovating the historic court house where the first governor of the State of New York, General George Clinton, was inaugurated on July 30, 1777, the exterior of the bulding has been restored to its Colonial status but the interior has been modernized and has lost much of its Colonialism.

The old Supreme Court room on the second floor has remained intact as it has been since it was remodeled a number of years ago. Few changes were made on the second floor. The third floor, which has been used for grand jury purposes for years, has been modernized. A new entrance from the elevator has been installed and the old wooden stairway, the only means of entrance or exit to the third floor rooms, was removed and in place of this a fireproof entrance to the stairwell stairway constructed.

Atmosphere Gone

Through the installation of light walnut paneling and very modern "bucket-type" red upholstered metal chairs, the old "colonial" atmosphere is gone from the grand jury room.

The former board of supervisors office suite on the first floor has been altered into a large supreme court room, paneled in modern design with drop ceiling and overhead "spot-lights." The jury box has been equipped with very modernistic yellow upholstered metal seats, while the area set aside for spectators is equipped with "tangerine" colored metal seats, while the chairs within the rail for attorney's use are upholstered in gold. No provision has been made for air conditioning the room and only one window remains for light and ventilation. Adjacent to the court room is the chambers of the Supreme Court judge.

Less brilliant in upholstery decore is the first floor County Court chambers. Paneled walls, a drop ceiling and spotlight illuminated, the County Court room is fitted with bucket seats for spectators and jurors, but in a more modest gray color than the brilliantly colored chairs and jury box of the Supreme Court room.

The long bench and witness stand in the County Court room, which has exceptionally fine acoustics, separates the court reporter and the clerk of the court.

In fact when the clerk is seated at the left of the judge his vision is cut off from the witness and most of the jurors. To the rear of the court room are the chambers of the County Judge.

Sheriff's Office Remains

Outside the judiciary, the only office to remain on the ground floor of the court house will be that of the Sheriff's Department and on the second floor will be housed the Supreme Court Library, the Supreme Court Judge's chamber and the district attorney's suite of offices.

In the basement will be jury assembly rooms where jurors will be housed when not serving on a jury and where juries may be selected prior to coming in to court to sit on a case.

Augustus Schrowang and Associates were architects for the renovation.

Barry Over Rocky

Arkansas Likes Rockefeller, But Not Nelson

By WILLIAM SIMMONS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Republicans like the idea of running Winthrop Rockefeller for governor.

But they prefer Sen. Barry Goldwater to Rockefeller's brother, Nelson, in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Could Hurt Winthrop

The varying attitude toward the two Rockefellers has created an intraparty split among Arkansas Republicans which could keep Winthrop out of the governor's race again.

Rockefeller has spent 10 years preparing to run for governor as a Republican in this traditionally Democratic state.

He built his personal image with social, civic and industrial development work. He built the party with dollars, drive and determination.

Now he appears ready to run. He has been increasingly critical of Democratic Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who is expected to be a sixth-term candidate.

But the specter of his brother, governor of New York, haunts him. Winthrop has been trying to line up Arkansas National convention votes for Nelson and this has aroused the wrath of Goldwater supporters.

Rockefeller is GOP national committeeman for Arkansas.

Good Slate Pivotal

He says his candidacy will depend on whether Arkansas Republicans can put together a good slate of candidates for all state offices and not on what happens to Nelson.

Rockefeller's entry into the governor's race would give Arkansas its first real two-party battle since Reconstruction.

Rockefeller can count on heavy support from the anti-Faubus faction in the Democratic party.

Republicans have talked of running Rockefeller for governor since he came to Arkansas in 1953. He established a cattle breeding farm 50 miles northwest of Little Rock.

New President Named for Area Mormon Branch

A new branch presidency of the Kingston Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints was approved at a special sacrament meeting Sunday at the Kingston Chapel, Fording Place Road, Lake Katrine.

Wendell H. Gray, of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, was set apart as branch president. Mr. Gray has been connected with church leadership in this area for the past 18 years, having been branch president previously for a number of years and serving on the District High Council. Mr. Gray is employed by the WGB Oil Clarifier, Inc. of Kingston as chief engineer.

He succeeds Lester A. Smith who has moved with his family to San Jose, Calif, where he was transferred by IBM.

Clinton V. Davis, of Flatbush Avenue, Kingston, will serve as first counselor to Mr. Gray and Terrence R. Thompson of Red Hook will serve as second counselor.

The area covered by the Kingston Branch is approximately all of Ulster County. The local branch is part of the Cumorah Mission with headquarters in Rochester. H. Lester Peterson, president of the Cumorah Mission presided at Sunday's meeting and set apart the new branch presidency. With him were Donald S. Brereton and Paul Jorgensen of the Albany District Presidency.

Athens Burns 'Johnson,' Rhodes Mobs Stone Men

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson either overstated the case when he spoke of how much Americans are beloved or the anti-American outbursts by other peoples since Jan. 1 were just lovers' tiffs.

The latest hostility to this country came Tuesday night in Greece. Mobs rioting over the Cyprus civil war burned Johnson in effigy in Athens and on the island of Rhodes mobs stoned American offices.

Greece, which has been receiving foreign aid from this country, is an American ally in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United States helped save it from communism after the war.

Johnson, talking to a group of government employes here last Feb. 12, said: "Regardless of what you hear we are a much beloved people throughout the world. We are respected and we appreciate it."

He said this after a number of episodes in which Americans had already suffered embarrassments and worse, including death.

Riot Against Americans

Last Jan. 9 in Panama, which has also received U.S. foreign aid, plus rental for the canal, Panamanians rioted against Americans in the Canal Zone.

The basic reason was resentment against U.S. control of the canal and zone. In the riotings and shootings 20 people were killed, including three Americans.

Panama wants a change in the 1903 treaty giving this country the right to control the canal indefinitely. It broke off diplomatic relations with the United States and there has been no settlement yet.

In Zanzibar, which only got its independence from Britain last Dec. 10 but where the Arab minority controlled the government, black Africans revolted Jan. 12 and set up their own leftist regime.

Diplomats Expelled

The Russians recognized their new government quickly but the United States delayed. The Africans responded by arresting and expelling two American diplomats until this country gave recognition Feb. 23.

Zanzibar is part of the British Commonwealth.

Also in February in Africa's Ghana the United States was accused, by President Kwame Nkrumah's government-controlled press and radio of being behind the latest alleged attempt to assassinate him.

A mob, steamed up by the dictatorial Nkrumah's politicians, demonstrated before the U.S. Embassy and ran down the American flag. The government deported four American professors.

Feelings Reach Climax

The United States recalled its ambassador, William P. Mahoney Jr., for consultations. He said the anti-American demonstrations were the climax of feelings which had been building up for some time.

This country has a commitment of $147 million in long-term loans to help build the Volta River dam for Ghana and an aluminum smelter to be run by private American companies for the Ghana government.

Other economic aid from this government to Ghana runs into the millions.

In South Viet Nam, where the United States for eight years has pumped in billions of aid, economic and military, to help its fight against the North Vietnamese Communists, anti-Americanism took a vivid, bloody turn.

The Communists, infiltrating the capital of Saigon and using a deliberate campaign of terror by assassination, have wounded and killed Americans with bombs and bullets.

In Athens Tuesday night the rioters complained the United States is following a pro-Turkish line in attempts to settle the dispute on Cyprus where the Cypriots, Greeks and the outnumbered Turks have slaughtered one another.

The Bahrein Islands are located in the Persian Gulf, east of Saudi Arabia.

Thumbnail Sketches Of Pageant Workers

(This is the third of a series of brief releases about each member of the board of directors of Pageant, Inc., producer of the Miss New York State Pageant to be held in Kingston, July 9, 10 and 11. The releases are prepared by Robert W. Gardner, director in charge of pubilc relations.)

John W. Lawson of 24 Furnace Street, is second vice president of Pageant, Inc. and this will be his sixth year of participation in the Miss New York State Pageant.

Lawson was one of the Kingston Jaycees who were instrumental in bringing the state pageant to Kingston for the first time in 1959. Although he has been involved in many different assignments in the Pageant program, he has most frequently worked in the area of hospitality and arrangements for all official visitors.

Lawson's responsibilities this year will include: Housing and food for contestants and their chaperones, scheduling of contestant and visitor activities, coordination of hostesses, and the Awards Breakfast.

Hospitality is a most important consideration in producing the Miss New York State Pageant. The franchise to conduct the state pageant is awarded by the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City only after they are satisfied that the pageant will be conducted in keeping with their standards and regulations. They insist upon good accommodations for the contestants, proper supervision of the girls throughout each day and night, and all the many touches which maintain the dignity of the Miss America program.

Lawson works closely with the staff of the Governor Clinton Hotel, which becomes Pageant Week.

Lawson, employed by IBM, also is a member of the executive committee of the TB and Health Association, a member of the executive committee of Urban Renewal in Kingston and continues to be an active member of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Launch Hunger Strike

MODENA, Italy (AP)—The 63 residents of Casine and Villa went without supper Tuesday night, launching a hunger strike they said they would maintain until they are assured a road from their Apennine Mountain villages to a highway two miles away.

Only two infants were fed. Most of the villagers were elderly couples who tend cows and sheep, their sons and daughters having gone off to work in prosperous regions of Italy.

The two villages are linked to the nearest town, Lama Macogno, by a steep footpath. They say they have been promised a road for years.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Here It Is: 'Greatest of Cakes

BRAZIL NUT Devil's Food Cake Is Simply Superb.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once every year, because we want to make certain that everyone in the United States tastes this greatest of cakes, we reprint the recipe for Brazil Nut Devil's Food Cake. Now while March winds blow, have a little fun. Make this rich, velvety, chocolate and nut cake.

To shell the Brazil nuts: cover the in-shell nuts with cold water; bring to a boil and boil 3 to 5 minutes. Cover with cold water and let stand 1 minutes; then drain and crack. Or else freeze the nuts several hours before cracking. Large nutmeat pieces are then easily removed.

Brazil Nut Devil's Food Cake

¼ cup shortening
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and beat well. Mix in Brazil nuts. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt; add flour mixture alternately with milk to batter. Stir in vanilla. Pour into 2 deep greased 8-inch layer pans and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes and remove from pan. Cover with a chocolate frosting and garnish with Brazil nut petals.*

Brazil Nut Petals

Place whole shelled Brazil nuts in cold water. Bring slowly to a boil. Simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Drain and cut into thin lengthwise slices about ⅛-inch thick.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market encountered heavy going early today in a bid for a fourth consecutive daily advance. Prices were irregularly and narrowly higher. Trading was heavy.

Fractional gains outnumbered losses of the same size among leading stocks. Bigger advances by scattered issues seemed nearly all attributable to special circumstances, dividend increases and the like.

Some of the blue chips prominent in Tuesday's upward movement settled back a bit on profit taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.06 at 806.78.

NotDismayed By Fallout Shelter Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Asst. Secretary of Defense Steuart L. Pittman, the Senate shelving of a multimillion-dollar request for fallout shelters is just a "setback that throws us off schedule."

Pittman, who is in charge of the nation's civil defense program, has been fighting for his cause for 2½ years, with the backing of the administration but with indifferent congressional and public response.

Last September things looked up for him. The House changed its previous position and voted $190.6 million for a program providing federal incentive in the building of fallout shelter spaces in institutions, schools, hospitals and other nonprofit structures.

Then on Monday matters took a turn for the worse, again. A Senate Armed Services subcommittee voted 4-1 to defer action on the House-approved bill, which probably means there will be no action this year.

Pittman, in an interview, preferred to review this development as a delay in meeting "the important defense requirement of fallout protection" for millions of citizens.

But it does not mean, said Pittman, that the subcommittee or Congress has reached a decision on the merit of the program.

Pittman points to testimony at a recent congressional committee hearing and to repeated official statements when he says that it is the consensus of "leading military commanders, scientists, governors and others that the fallout shelter system is feasible and necessary to our defense posture."

Hudson Man Held For Stabbing Woman

A 44-year-old man was in the Columbia County jail today in lieu of $500 bail facing a second degree assault charge in connection with the stabbing of a 56-year-old woman during an argument.

Police said Mrs. Margaret King, of 332 Columbia Street, Hudson, told authorities Richard Sparkman, of the same address stabbed her left arm. She was treated at Columbia Hospital and later released.

Patrolman George Oliver and Elmer Fonda apprehended Sparkman in downtown Hudson three hours after authorities were notified of the incident. Police said Sparkman was in possession of a stiletto and a jackknife when taken into custody.

City Judge Harold Lieberman fixed bail and ordered the accused man held for hearing.

Two Drivers Fined

Two drivers admitting vehicle and traffic violations in city court today, paid fines of $5 each. Peter V. Strubel, 75, of 742 Broadway, was charged with improper display of a license plate, and Patsy Petramale, 38, of 57 Boulevard, was booked on a stop-sign charge.

We weren't prepared for this tremendous response," said Jisho Hamana of Asahi Shimbun, one of Japan's largest publishing enterprises. It had ordered a first printing of only 30,000.

Popular in Netherlands

In the Netherlands, the big newspaper publishing firm of Het Parool already has had to increase the size of its first printing. Though the book will not go on sale until March 6, advance orders for "The Torch Is Passed" already have topped 20,000.

In Italy, Oggi magazine published a deluxe, hard-cover memorial edition and called it, "The tragedy that has shaken the world."

Other publishers abroad include Donghwa News Agency in Seoul, Korea, which has published a limited edition; Samierens of Copenhagen, Del Atlantico in Buenos Aires, whose Spanish language version will be circulated both in Spain and the Spanish-speaking countries of Latin America; and the Allhem Publishing House in Malmo, Sweden.

In the Philippines, the Manila Times received 10,000 copies of the American edition for distribution to Filipinos. More than 12,000 copies have been ordered through the Pacific and European editions of Stars and Stripes.

Smaller orders have gone to newspapers in a number of other countries which are distributing the book to their readers through the coupon system.

League Quotes Edinger on Cost Of Local Dump

Quoting the Town Law Book and Harry Edinger, Director of Environmental Sanitation for the Ulster County Board of Health, the Woodstock League of Women Voters today issued a statement purporting to fit the cost of establishing and financing a public dump in the Town of Woodstock.

The establishment of a dump was one of the major issues in the 1963 political campaign in Woodstock.

The League of Women Voters, maintaining its non-partisan role, did not take a stand on the matter during the campaign, but incorporated the project in its Local Item Study.

The League's statement follows:

"At the present time there is no town dump. There is a privately owned open dump belonging to Superintendent of Highways Albert C. Cashdollar where collectors under contract on an individual fee basis take many peoples' refuse. This dump has a permit for controlled burning. The rest of the town's people take care of their own garbage and refuse in various ways on their own property, which is permissible, as long as it doesn't become a public health problem."

(Editor's Note: There is only one Woodstock collector authorized to use the Cashdollar dump premises and individual citizens may not use the dump).

Board Has Power

The statement continues:

"Under the Town Law, the town board has the power to establish only one dump or dumping ground in the township. It is empowered to regulate or prohibit dumping, and also to use general funds from the current tax levy to lease land for a public dump. The board may also establish a Garbage District and then contract for the disposal of all refuse in said district. This contract price shall be fixed by the board for no longer than two years, subject to renewal and all expenditures approved must be paid by taxes levied in the same fiscal year. If a proposition is adopted at a Town Election, then the town board may go ahead and make all necessary arrangements for a garbage collection and disposal system.

"Under the Sanitary Code, the required land acquisition for a dump is one acre per year per 1,000 people and the operation demanded is compaction and burial of material."

25 Acres Needed

"In Woodstock's case," the League's statement continues, initially about 20 or 25 acres of land would be needed to fulfill requirements and take care of future expansion and protection. The land needed seems like the most desirable property in the township, because it should be isolated but yet accessible, have excellent drainage and have land fill available in sufficient quantity. The operation of a dump, using available land fill, would require a bulldozer or bullclam, located on the site, plus workers. If fill was not available, then it would need to be trucked in at a cost of about $20 per yard. Also the drainage problem would require a solution: 6 to 8 foot ditches around the area. The cost of operation would be about $15,000 per year.

Mr. Edinger stated that there is another way to take care of the town dump problem and that is to have an incinerator along with a disposal area (for anything that won't burn). He said that the cost of an incinerator would be about $100,000, and the land fill costs would also be necessary. For a town the size of Woodstock, it would be financially impossible to have its own incinerator and disposal area; but some thought could definitely be given to the idea of several neighboring communities getting together and operating a jointly owned dump. For 25,000 people a dumping ground with an incinerator and disposal area could be established and run for around $20-$25,000 per year.

When reporters asked whether Carlino considered the school aid issue still alive, he replied:

"I think it's very much alive. I never thought it was dead."

Rockefeller and Mahoney turned down a previous Carlino plan to finance an aid boost by raising the cigarette tax. Both Carlino and Mahoney believe, however, that Rockefeller would approve an aid increase provided no boost in taxes were required.

Car, Cycle Mishap

Marie Nagle, 9, of 60 Staples Street, was injured in a truck-bicycle mishap at Franklin Street and Clinton Avenue shortly after 4 p. m. Tuesday. She was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for hand and head injuries. Police said the pickup truck, operated by Edward Reer, 48, of Box 491, Kingston, was headed west on Franklin Street, some 15 feet west of Clinton Avenue, and the bicycle was headed across the street. Officers Harry Short and Charles Diers investigated.

Plans Announced

new, needed piece of literature covering the county would not supplant the existing county pictorial brochures and does not have to replace a particular locality brochure.

Would Include Listing

The new literature should, rather, furnish small, factual listings directing the visitor, traveller, vacationist to specific areas, and places of accommodation. "Effort in this direction is greatly needed and welcome, and, when forthcoming, has our blessing. The Board of Supervisors has no budget for such a project, and, therefore, cannot undertake or finance such a publication," he said. Starkman said he would undertake such a venture, showing in small listings and small advertisements the various facilities and accomodations offered.

In addition, the new directory would describe areas, sport activities and eating places. Having long experience in this sort of informative promotion, Starkman, who is president of Valley Advertising Agency in Kingston, said the directory would be peppered with county data and some illustrations. It would be of interest and helpful to the out-of-towner or traveller, and, residents, too.

Requires Cooperation

"Even though this project is getting off to a late start, with prompt cooperation from area people, we should have something worthwhile to show in time to fill a void. Nothing is worse to out-of-towners", se said, "than outdated or undated brochure information."

Material for insertion, area data, or business listing, may be given to the Ulster County Directory by contacting Starkman at 116 Fair Street, Kingston.

All material is invited, and all will be considered. Besides helping the summer economy, Starkman said, this booklet will even aid those out-of-towners who consider this a potential area for year round living, buying a home, or working here.

Descriptive material will be mailed shortly to owners and resorts of record.

Transfusion Rules Out Stillborn

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A blood transfusion to an unborn baby has prevented it from being still-born. Both the mother and the baby, a boy, born last Jan. 30—are doing fine.

The blood was pumped into the fetus, through a catheter tube inserted through its mother's womb to prevent a likely still-birth.

Details of the blood-infusion procedure were disclosed Tuesday by Dr. Eugene R. Duggan of the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Duggan said use of the technique here was believed to be the first time it was employed in the United States. He said it was based on a method recently devised in New Zealand.

The catheter was inserted through the womb directly into the abdomen of the fetus, Duggan said. Doctors slowly infused new blood through the catheter and into the baby with a small hand pump.

The technique was performed in January, twice in 11 days, in an effort to prevent death of the fetus by an RH sensitivity reaction, he said.

The new blood counteracts the reaction, Duggan said.

The baby who received the new blood here was born five weeks premature, by Caesarian section and weighed 5½ pounds.

Within 10 minutes after birth, doctors had removed all of the infant's blood and replaced it with new blood. Five similar exchanges were performed in the next 72 hours.

The mother and child were discharged from the medical center last month.

Their identities were not disclosed.

Action Put . . .

its choice from its ranks.

Counsel Frederick H. Stang, of the Kingston Housing Authority advised the aldermen that it will be necessary to hire an account clerk to keep accounts for the senior citizens' housing project due to be built on Albany Avenue on the former Abramowitz property.

Salary Up to $3,800

The State Division of Housing, he said, has approved the hiring of the clerk. The salary starts at $3,400, with two increments to bring it to $3,800.

Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward proposed that majority and minority leaders, be provided, well in advance of meetings, with copies of all reports or similar information on all matters to be brought up at council sessions, so that the aldermen would have sufficient advance knowledge of them.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll, who indicated the proposal would be considered, had also suggested that because of poor acoustics in the council chamber that each alderman be supplied with copies of city bills which are read at each meeting, so that they would not have to depend solely on listening to them as they are read.

Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, supported Howard's proposal, claiming it was the only way the aldermen could determine intelligently how they should vote on a proposal.

Wood Reappointed

Mayor Schwenk filed notice of his reappointment of Richard K. Wood, of 75 Sharon Lane, to the planning board. His term expires Feb. 5, 1967.

The mayor was authorized by vote of the council to apply to the State Division of Youth for $2,090, a state share to be used by the city recreation department. Application was forwarded by Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, who heads the department.

Settlement of a claim, originally fixed at $300,000 when it was filed in February, 1960, for $150, was approved. Corporation Counsel Gold noted that settlement was agreed upon at a recent pre-trial conference. The claim sought to recover for injuries suffered in a sidewalk fall and was filed by Claire and Sterling Baker, whose address at the time was John Street, Rosendale.

The aldermen, on recommendation of the corporation counsel, approved payment of $43.95 to Jane W. Huling, of 15 Green Street, for damage done to a lawn in September, 1962, during emergency repair of a city sewer.

The Board of Public Works has proposed that the first program of the year be made up to cover streets on which work was not completed last year.

14 Streets on List

Democratic aldermen opposed a section of the program, as submitted in 1963. They held that streets they had listed in their respective wards had not been considered. The administration contended that the program was made up of streets, which it had been decided after due study, were most in need of repair.

Fourteen streets are on the list, which is due to be considered at the recessed meeting March 16.

Alderman Howard noted that a shortage of signs dealing with parking on alternate sides of streets, resulted in only two being placed on Prospect Street between Greenkill Avenue and St. James Street. He felt that parkers should not be ticketed for violations until the street is properly posted.

Up Savings, Insurance Before Buying Stocks

Q—"I am 38 years old with two young children to educate. I make $12,000 a year, own my home, and have $45,000 in insurance and $1,000 in savings. I would like to invest to prepare for my children's education. How much more in savings would you recommend? What stock would you advise as an initial purchase?" E. B.

A—I am pleased that you are so well situated financially.

There is no strict rule-of-thumb as regards savings. If your job is secure, I think that $4,00 would be an adequate savings reserve to set up before you do any investing.

I'm also going to suggest that you raise your insurance protection somewhat. Bear in mind that it is not the face value of your policy that metters, but the income that could be derived from that sum if your wife and children had to face life without you.

As an initial purchase I suggest American Telephone — an excellent anchor to any list.

Q—"About two years ago, I began buying life insurance stocks. Do you see anything ahead that could act to the detriment of these shares? If so, can you suggest any other group that pays large stock dividends? I don't want cash payments since I'm in a high tax bracket." F. M.

A—I know of nothing ahead that should prove detrimental to life insurance stocks. In fact, increased family formations over the next few years (as a result of the high world War II birth rate) plus rising national income and improving mortality rates all point to continued growth of life company operations.

There is no other group I know of which pays out so little in cash and so much in stock dividends. Life stocks are relatively high now and may face market reverses as they did in 1962.

It might be prudent to set up a reserve in tax-exempt bonds—which would show you a high taxable equivalent yield.

Talks Stalled On Malaysia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines broke off their conference on the Malaysia crisis today because Indonesia and Malaysia could not agree on withdrawal of anti - Malaysian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo.

Philippine Foreign Minister Salvador P. Lopez said the conference was recessed and "the door is still open." He said Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman had agreed to serve as liaison among the three disputing governments.

Lopez said cease-fire arrangements along the Malaysia-Indonesia border in Borneo would "remain as they are." He announced that personnel from Thailand would go to Borneo as soon as possible to supervise the cease-fire.

The shaky cease-fire went into effect Jan. 25 after negotiations by U.S. Atty. Robert F. Kennedy during an Asian trip.

Malaysia demanded the cease-fire be made effective by withdrawal of the guerrillas to Indonesian Borneo. It refused to discuss political issues until the cease-fire issues were settled.

Indonesia demanded that political issues be taken up along with the cease - fire discussion. The Indonesians want a plebiscite in the Malaysian Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah to determine if the people want to be part of Malaysia. Indonesia also wants Britain to withdraw its troops from Malaysia and close out its bases there.

McNamara Cool To Carrying War To North Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will take off for South Viet Nam Thursday night, cool to proposals to carry the war against Communist North Viet Nam.

Anything but a "soft liner," McNamara is understood to feel the South Vietnamese forces will win or lose the fight by the way they go about eliminating the Communist insurgents inside their own country.

The defense chief is said to believe the Vietnamese lack the capability to carry on a full-scale campaign in South Viet Nam and at the same time strike into the north.

McNamara reportedly is against sending Americans on any such operations into North Viet Nam.

HOW TO DEAL WITH NON-PLAYER

Q: An organization to which I belong gave a bridge luncheon recently. Each member was given tickets to sell. Several friends said they would like to go and I made reservations. All but one paid for their tickets, the one saying that she would pay me later. I put out the money for her ticket. It so happened that she could not go to the luncheon as an emergency arose at the last minute.has made no mention whatever about paying for the ticket. I think that even though she could not go to the luncheon, she is still responsible for payment. Am I right? Would it be proper for me to ask her for the money?

A: You can certainly explain to her that even through she did not go, you had to pay for her ticket, and she should then reimburse you for it.

What The Bride's Father Wears

Q: We are starting to make plans for my daughter's wedding in June. The wedding will be in the morning. She is marrying a naval officer and he is asking six of his officer friends to be ushers. They will form an arch of swords outside of the church after the ceremony. All will be in summer white dress uniforms. May my husband wear a white dinner jacket instead of the usual morning coat and striped trousers? I think it would look much better with the white uniforms.

A: I'm sorry, but a white dinner jacket would not be at all correct at a daytime wedding, and the proper clothes for your husband to wear are striped trousers and a cutaway coat.

Transportation for the Wedding Guests

Q: Is it necessary for the bride's family to provide transportation for those wedding guests who have no cars, from the church to the place where the reception is to be held?

A: They are only obliged to provide transportation for those in the wedding party. If they can arrange transportation for any of the wedding guests, so much the better, but it is not a requirement.

Evening or Day Clothes?

Q: How does one know whether or not to wear evening clothes when invited to a large evening reception when no mention is made about clothes on the invitation?

A: When in doubt, it is wise and entirely proper to telephone the host, or hostess.

Proposed College in Neighboring County Will Benefit From Carnegie Hall Concert

A benefit performance of Bach's St. Matthew Passion is being presented tonight at Carnegie Hall sponsored by the Verrazzano College Committee and directed by Leopold Stokowski.

Presented by the American Symphony orchestra, the performance will feature Veronica Tyler, soprano; Jean Maderia of the Metropolitan Opera Association, contralo; David Dodds, tenor; George Hoffman and William Wiederanders, bass as soloists. Also participating will be the Schola Cantarum conducted by Hugh Ross.

The proposed Verrazzano College Inc. will be built on a 216-acre site in Woodridge, Sullivan County near the Ulster County border. It is expected that the deed for the land will be presented to the committees at the concert tonight. Founders of the proposed $10 million college accepted the offer of the site in May.

Gilbert DiLucia, a new York attorney originator and chairman of the college, said that the liberal arts college named for Giovanni da Verrazzano, discoverer of New York Harbor in 1524, will be "a monumental thank you" to the nation from Italian American community.

The school will teach concepts instead of facts, according to its founders. There will be only three areas of study, the natural sciences, the humanities, and physical sciences. There will be no fraternities or sororities, no varsity athletic program and no subject departments, just the three divisions.

The unique school is based on a Ford Foundation report. It is hoped to attract 1,000 students. Plans are made for ground breaking this fall with first classes beginning September, 1965.

Plans call for 10 buildings of modern design. The site in Woodridge, valued at $75,000 includes a 30-year-old school building as temporary quarters. A large parcel of approximately 100 acres was donated by the Benjamin Mildner family with a group of village residents purchasing an adjoining tract for $30,000.

Local chairman of funds for the proposed college is Walter Donnaruma of Kingston. All citizens may take part in the campaign. The proposed college is open to all, regardless of race, color or creed and emphasizes a "humanistic rounding out of the student and creative thinking rather than educational speculation."

National Rug Design Exhibit at Ulster Community College

The Art Department of Ulster County Community College presents its third in a series of special events. A group of prize winning hand woven rugs and creative designs will be displayed at the College now through March 25, according to Ruth Muroff, Professor of Art of the College, who organized the exhibit. The winning rugs represent the work of leadng American designers across the country which include the actual wool rugs and the designs from which the rugs were executed. Dr. Dale Lake, president of Ulster County Community College, cordially invites the public to view the rugs and designs from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in Gallery Hall and Room 34 on the third floor.

These rugs represent the work of award winning designers of the American Institute of Interior Designers — A. I. D. V'Soske Rug Competition. The designers were presented citations of Merit for their creative expression in the field of floor covering at the Seattle Art Museum. Thirteen rugs were selected by a Jury of Award composed of Calvin S. Hathaway, Director, The Cooper Union Museum; Greta Daniel, Associate Curator of Design of Modern Art; David Campbell, Director, Museum of Contemporary Crafts; Margaret Cousins, Editor, Doubleday & Company Inc., and Harry D. Grier, Director, the Frick Collection.

The 13 award winning designs were interpreted into rugs by V'Soske rug craftsmen in Puerto Rico in sizes 4x6 and 6x9. The exhibit is exciting in creative color and show varied selections of high-styled rugs. The original designs are interpreted in dense wool and in the heavy depth of hand woven luxury, making these rugs "Works of Art."

The 13 designers whose work will be displayed are Pipan Saarienen Swanson, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Ruth Muroff, Kingston, N. Y.; K. James Ferguson, St. Louis, Mo.; Eleanor Rubin, State College, Pa.; Mohan Singh, New Delhi, India; Robert Kuykendall, Tucson, Ariz.; Frank D. Stout, Palo Alto, Calif.; Harold Grieve, Los Angeles, Calif.; Henry Stahmer, Chicago, Ill.; James M. Smith, Coconut Grove, Fla.; Fred Harvy, Tucson, Ariz.; Mark Antony, New Orleans, La.; Kenneth Hayden, Tucson, Ariz.

V'Soske contributed to the A.I.D. National Scholarship Fund the sum of $5000 as an expression of confidence in the role designers play in meeting the challenges and complex problems of today's life.

The rugs and winning designs together with 13 selections which won honorable mention form a traveling exhibition for museums and design schools throughout the country.

This rug exhibit affords this community an excellent opportunity to view original prize winning designs.

Marist College Has Eva Plaut Artwork; Opens on Sunday

The opening reception of "An Exhibit of Drawings and Paintings by Eva Plaut" will be held at Marist College on Sunday from 2-4 p. m. The members of the Art Workshop will be hosts to the artist and guests at the function, in the Student Lounge of Donnelly Hall.

Eva Plaut was born in Berlin, Germany. At the age of three, she moved to Holland where she received her early education. In 1947, she went to England and after taking special extension courses at St. Martin's School of Art, she qualified as a full time student. She graduated with a National Diploma in Design from St. Martin's School of Art, London, England in 1951. During these years she was deeply concerned with drawing and the graphic arts, never ceasing to work and study on her travels in England and Europe. After completing the formal aspects of her art education, she has always been active in the field of graphic art. The concentrated study of drawing has supported her expanding expressions in fine arts, and has contributed to her work in advertising doing free lance assignments.

In 1951, Mrs. Plaut was married in Israel to Ted Plaut. She continued to work in drawing and painting at the Sulkis Studio in Tel Aviv and served as assistant teacher to Dr. Herman Sulkis. The return to England took place in 1953 and another move in 1954 brought the couple to the United States where she continued in her work.

Mrs. Plaut exhibited in the Festival of Britain Art Exhibit in London. Locally she has shown at the Oakwood School, and the IBM Country Club. She is an active member of the Creative Contemporary Art Group of Poughkeepsie.

The Marist exhibit will continue through March. The public is cordially invited to attend the exhibit any time during the month.

Silent Spring Review Is Given At Monday Club

A book expounding the dangers of insecticides was the topic of this week's meeting of Saugerties Monday Club at the home of Mrs. Alvin Messersmith, West Camp.

The program was a review of the book "Silent Spring" by Rachel Carson, given by Mrs. David Jones.

She stressed the importance of being informed of the dangers involved in the use of insecticides and weed killers. Many of these are extremely poisonous, and in the hands of a careless and uninformed public can cause much damage to man and wildlife.

This book has been the subject of much controversy in the year and a half since its publication, and has caused numerous agencies to investigate the facts of the possible effects of chemicals on man and his environment, she said.

The next meeting will be on March 9 at the home of Mrs. David Jones, Washington Avenue Extension.

Carnegie Course Project of Lions Termed Successful

The Carnegie Personality Development Course project was reported highly successful at Saugerties Lions Club's weekly meeting Monday evening at the Flamingo Restaurant.

William D. Brinnier vice president persided at the meeting in the absence of the president.

A report by Chairman Philip Cullen indicated that the Lions Club sponsorship of the Dale Carnegie Personality Development Course had been a success.

Chairman Cullen reported that there were over 85 in attendance at the demonstration evening Feb. 26, and that as a result the treasury of the Lions Club was considerably augmented by reason of the Dale Carnegie agreement with the Lions, which provided the local club with financial credit for each participant at the demonstration meeting.

At the conclusion of Cullen's report, Brinnier expressed the appreciation of the Lions to Cullen for his outstanding job as chairman, pointing out that this was Cullen's first major assignment as a local Lion and that he had through his intensive efforts brought about the successful sponsorship program. Brinnier pointed out that the Dale Carnegie Course would hold a meeting Wednesday, March 4, at 7 p. m. at Saugerties High School Building, Washington Avenue Extension, to which the public was invited inasmuch as there were a few openings still remaining available for the maximum registration number per class.

William Farrell gave a report as to plans for the annual St. Patrick's Day party. Brinnier then called upon the guest speaker Vernon L. Frost of Port Ewen, zone chairman of Lions International. Frost spoke on the amazing growth of Lionism in the last decade and also noted the Lions Club Zone Social meeting will be held on March 14, at the Capri Restaurant, Rt. 9W, Port Ewen, to which all Lions members and their wives were invited.

Oscar Robertson Is He The Most?

NEW YORK (AP)—He has the face of a pixie and the approach of a pirate. And he just happens to be the most proficient pro the National Basketball Association has ever known.

"He's something like a good insurance policy." Cincinnati Coach Jack McMahon said today about backcourt star Oscar Robertson.

"It's like this," McMahon explained. "In this game, mistakes are bound to happen. But almost every time we make a mistake, Oscar comes up with the ball.

"And when he's got the ball, how much trouble can you be in?"

Robertson contributed 33 points, a dozen assists and was the team's second best rebounder Tuesday night when the Royals fought off New York 117-108 in Madison Square Garden, staying within 2½ games of perennial champion and current front-runner Boston.

The Celtics beat Philadelphia 108-94 in Syracuse in the only other game played Tuesday. Tom Heinsohn hit 23 points and Bill Russell grabbed 36 rebounds for the Celtics, who led all the way.

The Big O's big contribution came in the closing moments when the aroused Knicks closed to within three points, 104-101. He personally led the counter-rally with two lay rebounds, three assists and four of his 17-for-17 free throws.

Gary Bradds Dominates All-America

Nash, Stallworth, Hazzard, Bradley Are Other Picks

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Bradds of Ohio State, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Walt Hazzard of UCLA, Bill Bradley of Princeton and Dave Stallworth of Wichita were named today as the 1964 All-America college basketball team by The Associated Press.

Despite an abundance of good players that made picking difficult in this Olympic year, these five from the Big Ten, Southeastern Conference, Big Six, Ivy League and Missouri Valley easily led in the voting by 371 sports writers and broadcasters.

On the basis of five points for a first-team vote and two points for a second-team vote, Bradds collected a total of 1,199 points. He was named on the first team by 215 voters. Nash was runner-up with 207 firsts and 1,159 total points. Then came Hazzard with 195 firsts and 1,087. All are seniors.

Both Juniors

Bradley and Stallworth, both juniors, polled 783 and 765, respectively, and each got 123 firsts.

Jeff Mullins of Duke, Cazzie Russell of Michigan, Fred Hetzel of Davidson, Mel Counts of Oregon State and Ron Bonham of Cincinnati were named as the second team.

Howard Komives of Bowling Green, Paul Silas of Creighton, Bill Buntin of Michigan, Barry Kramer of NYU and Jim Barnes of Texas Western formed the third team.

Kramer on Third Team

Bonham and Kramer made the 1963 All-America as juniors, along with Bradds, but failed to repeat. The Ohio State star similarly got off to a poor season, but went on a scoring splurge that put him back in the running and also sparked the Buckeyes into contention for the Big Ten crown.

Nash, after an off-season as a junior, reverted to the fine form he showed as a sophomore and led Kentucky to the Southeastern Conference title. Hazzard's speed and floor generalship helped put unbeaten UCLA at the top of The Associated Press rankings as well as the Big Six conference.

Bradley shattered virtually all of the Ivy League scoring records at Princeton, while Stallworth paced Wichita's drive for the Missouri Valley crown.

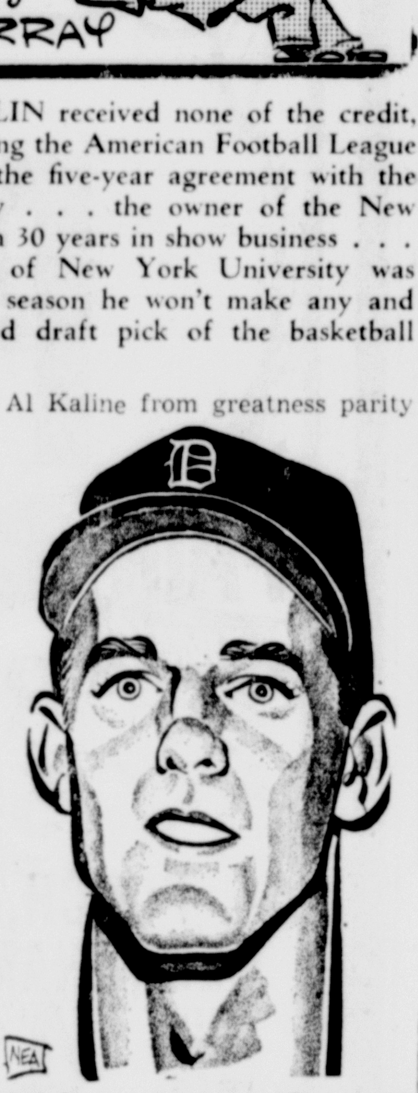
BETWEEN YOU'N'ME
by
MURRAY

DAVID (SONNY) WERBLIN received none of the credit, but deserves most of it, for hoisting the American Football League out of its money-losing rut via the five-year agreement with the National Broadcasting Company . . . the owner of the New York Jets used his influence from 30 years in show business . . .

A year ago Barry Kramer of New York University was everybody's All-American. This season he won't make any and probably won't be a first round draft pick of the basketball professionals . . .

The only thing that has kept Al Kaline from greatness parity with Mickey Mantle is a string of injuries that has affected seven of his 11 years in the American League and the benificence of a New York press. Yet the graceful Detroit outfielder — who was hampered last year by a bad knee, broke his collarbone the year before and suffered a cracked cheekbone a couple of seasons prior — doesn't consider himself injury prone "The race horse," he rationalizes, "that finishes last never gets hurt. He doesn't extend himself." . . .

Some guys balloon when they quit the active grind. Kyle Rote, out of organized football for the first time in more than two decades since he quit as backfield aide of the New York Giants, weighs 180 . . . 15 under his playing weight as an All-American at Southern Methodist in the early 1950s . . .



A new high-jumping phenomenon is on the way, 18-year-old Elijah Miller, a freshman at Rutgers. He already does 6-8½, modest by today's 7-foot standards, but the amazing thing, according to coach Les Wallack, is "that he doesn't do anything right," . . . The glamor event of the Tokyo Olympic Games promises to be the 5,000 meters with Jim Beatty of the United States, Bruce Kidd of Canada, Michel Jazy of France and Albie Thomas of Australia . . .

Edwin (Bud) Shrake, Dallas sports columnist, has tackled another field with a big Texas novel, "But Not for Love" (Doubleday) . . . that explores Southwest mores with hardly a mention of football . . . Should be a candidate for the movies . . .

When Roy Hamey, his predecessor with the New York Yankees, first huddled with Ralph Houk about advancement to the front office during the 1962 World Series in San Francisco, the opening shot went like this: "You ever thought about the good side of baseball?" asked Roy . . . "I didn't know what the h--- he was talking about," admits Ralph. "I had a year to go on my contract as manager. I thought maybe, because we were in the Series, I'd get another year extension." . . .

More than one pro basketball scout considers Michigan's precocious sophomore, Cazzie Russell, the best all-round college player in the country . . . the only challenge coming from junior Bill Bradley of Princeton . . .

The swing in college talent is focused toward the small school this year, with such hotshots as Jim Barnes of Texas Western, Willie Reed of Grambling and particularly Lucius Jackson of Pan-American (Edinburg, Texas) attracting droves of scouts . . . Hot Rod Hundley, who kept Los Angeles entertained with his antics, has deserted the west coast to swing the southeast territory for a sporting goods firm . . . President Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association believes San Francisco, a trouble point in attendance, will make it if the Warriors find a permanent home . . .

Arnie Heft, a former NBA referee, hasn't lost his attachment. Now in real estate in Washington, D. C., he has named three streets in a new project Celtic Drive, Knickerbocker Drive and Laker Lane . . .

Between you'n'me, all the Philadelphia fuss about Norm Van Brocklin becoming coach of the Eagles (he bowed out, of course) puzzled Joe Kuharich of the National Football League front office . . . who believed he left Florida after the league meetings with the job.

All good things must come to an end and that's what happened to the 38-game winning streak of Beacon High last night.

The Bulldogs were walloped 56-40, in the semi-finals of the Section One "A" division cage tournament before a packed house last night at the County Center in White Plains.

Roosevelt, the other DCSL representative, dropped a heart-breaker, 54-52, to Pelham in the other semi-final game.

Beacon missed its first nine shots and had trouble the rest of the evening against Sleepy Hollow. The Bulldogs trailed, 27-21, at halftime and never regained the lead in the third and forth periods.

Roosevelt, the defending A champion, was beaten when Bob Imperato scored a basket as the buzzer sounded, breaking a 52-52 deadlock.

The Presidents were led by Pete Ferenz with 18 points and George Platter with 17.

Pelham and Sleepy Hollow will meet for the A title this Thursday night.

Ed Zwinscher Selected as Top Performer

By ED PALLADINO

Freeman Sports Staff

Winners of 38-straight games before their loss in the Section One tournament last night, the powerful Beacon High Bulldogs dominate the All-DCSL cage team, as selected by the sports staff of this newspaper.

Coach Tom Winterbottom's squad has four of the five berths on the first team, Pete Ferenz, the 6-4 star from Roosevelt, is the other selection. Beaconites on the team are Ed Zwinscher, Curt Stewart, Bob Pulliam and Mickey Reed.

Zwinscher gains additional honors by being named as "Player of the Year." Ferenz, the league's leading scorer and a top notch all-around star at Roosevelt, just missed beating Zwinscher for the coveted top spot.

Paul (Boots) Buytkins of Saugerties paces the second team. Others selected are Tim Wachenfeld and Richard Railing of Arlington and Al Milligan and Ty Quill of Beacon.

Zwinscher, the top player in the circuit, was the third leading scorer with 158 points in 10 games. He was the most consistent of the Beacon performers and the clutch performer on the club.

A Key Player

Ferenz averaged just under 20 points a game in league play. He also rebounded well and played a key part in many of the games won by the Presidents.

Stewart, Pulliam and Reed scored in double figures and excelled on defense for the Bulldogs. Beacon scored 790 points in its league games while allowing only 491.

All players on the first team are seniors and four of the second five are seniors. The only exception is Quill, a sophomore and a future cage great.

Speaking of Sports

Was Sonny Liston A One-Armer?

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

The newest development in the bizarre Clay-Liston thing is a recent interview with Cus D'Amato, who said he was not surprised that Mean Man Liston came apart against the Muslims' prize exhibit.

"Liston was always a one-arm fighter," said D'Amato promptly causing mass disillusionment among fighters and observers who were ready to proclaim him the greatest heavyweight champion of all time.

"When he injured his left shoulder early in the Clay fight," D'Amato told New York writers, "he was finished. All Clay had to do was take him and he did. I thought Cassius fought a brilliant fight against Sonny."

D'Amato is one of the top shrewdies in the boxing world. He was banished from Madison Square Garden because he refused to do business with the syndicates. He carefully nursed Floyd Patterson from a rank busher to the heavyweight championship. Okay, let's not quibble about the man's calibre. He still WAS the champion. It's not D'Amato's fault that Floyd suddenly developed a penchant for false beards after a disastrous evening with the reformed hoodlum, Liston.

Les Keiter's Anxieties

Liston may not fight again but the melody and odor lingers on. Who will ever forget the exasperating radio broadcast with Les Keiter frantically worried whether the boys would run out of gas and breath at the same time. It was, we believe, one of the most atrocious boxing broadcasts ever foisted on the American public.

And just one more item before we wrap this thing up in mummy clothes: Can you imagine what would have happened if Clay had tarried one second longer when he was "blinded" in the fifth round. Referee Barney Felix has been quoted as saying he would have disqualified Clay for non-aggression. And Sonny Liston, that mean man, would still be "champion" of the world. Quick, let's get to the next item.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

Ed Wiederspiel, the furniture tycoon, postcards he is enjoying his vacation in Mexico and is anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Mets and Dodgers, who will play a series against a Mexican all-star team . . . He later plans to meet his son Bruce in Arizona and watch the Cleveland Indians . . . For a hard hitting five-minute sportscast don't forget to catch Bob McNamara, widely read sports editor and columnist of the Albany Knickerbocker News daily on Channel 10 at 7:20 p. m. . . . Unless you're irrevocably attached to the Oscar Robertson or Bill Russell cult, won't you admit that the No. 1 all-round player in the National Basketball Association this season is none other than the fabulous Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain of the Frisco Warriors? And doesn't Alex Hannum rate Coach of the Year for the remodeling job he has accomplished on both Chamberlain and the old Philadelphia Warriors, who are now leading the Western Division of the NBA. The Warriors couldn't do it with Tom Gola and Paul Arizin in Philly. Chamberlain's performance this season in rebounds, assists and scoring indicate he is as good as he wants to be. And when he has it in him to be great there isn't anybody in the NBA who can touch him.

Understandable Pride

When Pete Ferraro, the well known trumpet player, speaks with undisguised pride about his son, Mike Ferraro, who was invited to the Yankees' rookie camp in Fort Lauderdale, it's understandable and quite natural.

"Here I am a Yankee fan all my life," he said the other day. "And now my son is associated with all the Yankee heroes I worshiped. Whitey Ford pitched against him in batting practice. Frankie Crosetti gave him tips on playing the infield and Yogi Berra some managerial words. What more could I ask for?"

Fair Street Five Bags Church Win In Last Minute

Six points in the last minute of play carried Fair Street Reformed to a 44-38 victory over Old Dutch in the Protestant Church Senior basketball league. The teams were tied 38-38 with 60 seconds left. Baskets by Bill Palen and Richard Emerick and a pair of free throws by Gary Ballou did the job. It was Fair Street's 10th victory in 11 decisions.

In other games, Port Ewen Methodist romped over St. John's Episcopal, 44-27, and Presbyterian nipped Redeemer Lutheran, 25-24, on Neil Bechtold's basket in the last 40 seconds.

Potter Leads With 18

Dan Potter of Port Ewen led all scorers with 18 points. Ed Cheeley added 14. Other double figure scorers were: Robert Chilson 10, Steve Davis 10, Will Palen 10, Garl Ballou 16, Brian Findholt 11, Jay Christensen 12, Larry Flowers 10.

Midwest in Snow, Texas Area Gets Hard Rainstorms

A fast-moving snow storm from the southern Rockies swept across Midwest areas today and thunderstorms and rain hit sections from Texas eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The storm that left nearly a foot of snow in parts of the Southwest spread across areas in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin and headed into central and eastern sections of Upper Michigan.

Warnings of heavy snow were issued by the Weather Bureau for central areas.

Thunderstorms hit areas in east Texas and Oklahoma and spread eastward across parts of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi. Hail was reported in some parts of the storm belt.

Freezing rain pelted some parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region.

Colder air moved into the upper Great Lakes region but temperatures generally were in the 20s and higher. It was cold and clear in most of the snow-covered areas in the Southwest. Denver reported a reading of six above.

Mild weather prevailed in much of the East and South with temperatures far above seasonal marks in many areas. Record high readings for March 3rd were reported Thursday in Daytona Beach, Fla., with 88, and Buffalo, N.Y., with 55.

Mild Weather Stays Longer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Wednesday:

Eastern New York — Mild weather continuing well into next week with only minor day to day changes. Temperatures are expected to average 5 to 10 degrees above normal. Rain or showers at the beginning of the period and likely again over the weekend. Total rainfall likely to exceed one inch. Thawing will continue and streams will break up in many sections.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 6 to 8 degrees above normal. Colder Thursday and Friday, warmer over the weekend. Showers tonight and early Thursday, changing to scattered snow flurries Thursday night. Rain or snow near the weekend.

Maple sap advisory — Conditions will be favorable but not ideal because temperatures at night will be rather high for best runs.

Temperature normals — Daytime highs, 29 to 39. Nighttime lows, 11 to 23.

Early Fog Slows Traffic in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dense fog hampered early - morning travel in much of New York State today, the third consecutive day of generally spring-like weather.

The fog extended from the New York City area, up the Hudson Valley and across the Southern Tier. Planes were grounded and traffic moved at a snail's pace.

The Weather Bureau predicted showers tonight and tomorrow across the state. The western portion is expected to cool off tomorrow, and the eastern portion Friday.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 25 at Poughkeepsie, Oneonta and Watertown to 37 at Buffalo, the Weather Bureau reported as the mercury headed toward the 50s again in many areas. An oddity in yesterday's readings was that Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse and Rochester all recorded a high of 56.

Paltz Professor To Address UJWF Group Tonight

Alfred D. Ronder, chairman of the Initial Gifts Division of the Kingston United Jewish Welfare Fund, announced today that the initial gifts meeting scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock had been moved to his home at 85 Johnston Avenue instead of the location originally announced. This change in location is due to sudden illness on the part of the original hostess.

Dr. Adam Gillon, professor of World Literature at the State University College in New Paltz, and a former Israeli combat pilot, will be the speaker at the meeting on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal.

Schwenk Salutes 80th Anniversary Of Rail Trainmen

Mayor John J. Schwenk, in saluting the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on its 80th anniversary, commends the organization "for its historic development in the interest and welfare of American labor."

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with 160,000 members, is the largest and one of the oldest railroad operating unions. Since 1883 it has played a key role in developing legislation, technological improvements and work rules which have made train transportation safe for passengers and crews.

Under the leadership of President Charles Luna, the Trainmen are carrying on a nationwide effort to strengthen the collective bargaining system, and to alert the public to the dangers of compulsory arbitration or government-dictated settlements of labor-management differences.

Warrant Is Out For Mrs. Epstein

NEW YORK (AP)—A warrant has been issued in the State Supreme Court for the arrest of Mrs. Martin C. Epstein, wife of the ousted chairman of the State Liquor Authority (SLA).

But Justice Mitchell C. Schweitzer stayed execution of the warrant until next Tuesday when Mrs. Epstein's lawyer, Frederick Abrams, told him Tuesday that she would appear then.

Abrams said Mrs. Epstein would go before a Manhattan grand jury on Tuesday and testify, because she wished to purge herself of contempt and avoid serving a 30-day jail term that had been imposed by Schweitzer. The sentence was imposed Jan. 13 after she repeatedly refused to answer questions before the grand jury which is investigating alleged graft and corruption in SLA operations.

Mrs. Epstein was to have appeared before Schweitzer Tuesday to begin serving the sentence. But Abrams told the justice she was in Florida attending her ailing husband, who has been indicted on charges of bribery and state income tax evasion.

Moves Grafted Hand

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) —The sailor whose right hand is a transplant from a dead laborer was able to move the hand in a circular motion Tuesday, hospital informants said.

Julio Luna, 32, who underwent the grafting operation in early February after his hand was shattered by a grenade explosion, also is now able to move several fingers, it was reported.

Donohue Is Suing For $1.5 Billion, Hits Trooper Quiz

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Trooper John H. Donohue, pressing fresh charges against the State Police high command, is suing the state for $1.5 million.

He says his superiors falsely imprisoned him for 17 hours.

A spokesman at State Police headquarters said Tuesday there was "absolutely no basis to his claim."

Donohue, of Peekskill, recently won a court struggle to have ratings from a State Police promotional examination revised. Last October, he charged in a speech that he was being harassed on the job because he had challenged the exam.

His lawyer says that, after the speech, his State Police superiors interrogated Donohue several times, including once in a 17-hour session.

In the new suit in the Court of Claims, Donohue holds he was deprived of his civil rights and suffered probable loss of employment, mental anguish and psychic trauma.

The State Police spokesman said:

"Trooper Donohue is working under command, and, when he is questioned, it's a matter of his official relation to his captain."

Trucker Fined After Mishap on Thruway Tuesday

A New Jersey truck driver was injured and cited for a motor vehicle violation by Thruway State Police Tuesday night, after a tractor-trailer with a cargo of mushrooms overturned off Route 32 at the Saugerties Interchange.

Trooper J. H. French of the Thruway detail, reported the driver of the truck, Anthony N. Giacobbe, 22, of 339 Fairview Avenue, Hammonton, N. J., told authorities the right front tire of the tractor blew out causing the vehicle to careen out of control.

The tractor-trailer went down an embankment, hit six guard posts and overturned.

Trooper French charged Giacobbe with having no log book on the truck. The truck driver pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, and paid a $10 fine, troopers said.

Izaak Waltons Elect Sashin

Harold Sashin was elected president of the Ellenville Chapter, Izaak Walton League of America, at the recent annual meeting.

Other officers named were: John B. Gillette, first vice president; William N. Nissenbaum, second vice president; Sherman B. Loucks, third vice president; Bruce B. Gillette, fourth vice president.

New directors are Frank Decker and Guy Davenport for a three-year term. Holdover directors include Robert V. Stapleton, Elsworth McDole, Harold B. Gillette and Richard McDole. James A. Innes was re-elected to his 11th term as secretary.

The chapter endorsed a federal bill authorizing an appropriation of $50,000 by Congress to make a survey and study of a proposed national parkway in the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York from the vicinity of Stroudsburg, Pa., northeast to Kingston, through the Shawangunk - Kittatinny mountains.

The chapter also endorsed the amended proposal by Sen. Keating (R-NY), sponsor of this bill, "to determine the exact location of any such parkway . . . every effort be made to route such parkway in a way which would avoid altering or changing of the wilderness like character and geographic features of the area comprising the Shawangunk-Kittatinny mountains."

It was also voted to send a boy on an all-expense paid trip to the Conservation DeBruce Camp in July.

Esopus Hearing Set on Regulation Of Sub-divisions

A public hearing on a proposed set of regulations for land sub-division in the Town of Esopus will be held by the Town of Esopus Planning Board, Thursday evening at the Town Hall, Port Ewen. The hearing will be conducted by Planning Board Chairman William Daum and is scheduled for 8 p. m.

The proposed regulations would apply to any land developer undertaking a sub-division in the township. The proposed regulations are the result of an extensive study on the subject by the Planning Board. Last month, a combined meeting was held with the Town Board and Superintendent of Highways Paul Mercier and agreement reached on the regulations to be presented at the public hearing.

The Town of Esopus Planning Board also includes Charles A. Beehler, Chester C. DuMond Jr., John A. Henry, Frank Kelly, John F. Spinnenweber and William H. vanBenshcoten.

Rocky Appears Island Favorite

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appears to be the favored candidate for president among leaders of the Puerto Rican Republican Party. It has five votes at the GOP nominating convention this summer, although Puerto Ricans don't vote for president.

Publicly the leaders have declined comment, but privately they say the New York governor seems closer than any other candidate to their traditional platform plank—statehood for Puerto Rico.

"Rockefeller will probably get our five votes at the convention," one leader said.

Nixon Would Stop British Trade for Deals With Castro

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday assailed the British firm that sold buses to Communist Cuba. "If they sell buses to Castro, then they can't sell autos here," he said.

Nixon didn't mention the British firm by name. But there was little doubt he was referring to Leyland Motors Ltd. when he called for a "selective embargo" against foreign companies that trade with Cuba.

He told 1,300 persons at a luncheon meeting of the New York Building Congress that American markets should be closed to foreign firms that sell anything except food and medicine to Cuba.
